Senate Gives Sweeping Approval to Military Training, Draft of 18's

Similar Bill Pending in House Committee on Armed Services for Nation

Vote 79 to 5

Yesterday's Approval Comes After Weeks of Argument

Washington, March 10 (AP)—The Senate approved yesterday a permanent program for building up the nation's fighting strength through universal military training and the draft of 18-year-olds. The vote was 79 to five.

A similar measure is pending in the House Armed Services Committee.

Members said today they hope to begin voting early next week on proposed amendments. Some House leaders predicted the measure would be ready for final House action before Easter vacation.

The top-heavy Senate approval came after weeks of hearings and arguments. Only five Republican senators opposed passage: Dirksen of Illinois, Jenner of Indiana, Langer of North Dakota, Schoeppel of Kansas and Welker of Idaho.

Support of the measure actually was stronger than the vote indicated. Four Democrats and five Republicans, unable to remain for the final balloting, were announced as favoring passage.

Shout for Vote

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.), who managed the universal military training and service (UMTS) bill through lengthy hearings and then a week of stormy debate, had prepared an appeal for unity on the final test. But tired senators, after eight hours of debate and many roll-calls, shouted "vote, vote, vote."

Under UMTS, this active duty would be followed by reserve service for a total of eight years.

The bill would extend the present 21 months service required of drafted men—and national guardsmen and reserves called back—to 24 months.

Johnson's subcommittee had recommended 26 months after the Pentagon asked 27.

The Senate put a ceiling of 4,000,000 persons on the combined army, air force, navy and marines. Last August when things were going badly in Korea Congress suspended for four years the manpower ceilings then of just over 2,000,000.

Held on Revolt Charges

Lahore, Pakistan, March 10 (AP)—Pakistan's army chief-of-staff, his wife and two other persons were arrested yesterday on charges of trying to stir up a revolt. Prime Minister Liaquat Aly Khan said the conspiracy had been discovered in time, but added, "these plans, had they succeeded, would have struck at the very foundations of our national existence and disrupted the stability of Pakistan."

Syrian Cabinet Resigns

Dame Rumor, Quill Best School Papers

New York, March 9 (Special)—Competing with publications of other schools in a nationwide contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, entries by the students of two local schools took high honors here today.

The announcement of winners among the 1,300 papers, representing schools in nearly every part of the United States, marked a highlight of the three-day convention of the association.

Dame Rumor, put out by students of Kingston High School, took first place among printed newspapers of senior high schools with from 1,500 to 2,500 pupils. Among duplicated newspapers of senior high schools with from 500 to 750 students, The Quill of Ellenville High School placed second.

Consideration was given by the judges to such matters as make-up, typography, news content and features.

Nearly 3,500 student journalists have come to the Columbia campus for the convention, which will conclude with a luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria. Ambassador Ernest Gross, first deputy of the American UN delegation, will be the principal speaker.

Dame Rumor is printed in The Kingston Daily Freeman job department.

Troops-for-Europe Wrangle Spreads From Senate to House

Poughkeepsie C.C. Not Opposed to Bridge, It Says

Letter to North Dutchess Residents Stresses Merchants Are Not Against Span

In an open letter to the residents of northern Dutchess county, the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as not opposing the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The communication stressed that the Retail Division, composed of merchants of Poughkeepsie, especially, has not taken a stand against construction of the span.

A movement has started in the Rhinebeck area of Dutchess county condemning Poughkeepsie interests opposed to the bridge, charging them with "purposely and viciously injuring the prosperity and development of the County of Dutchess."

The northern Dutchess group specifically named the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A portion of its statement said, "it would seem that the merchants of Poughkeepsie and the Junior Chamber of Commerce no longer want, require or appreciate the patronage of the people of the rural areas . . ."

The open letter to northern Dutchess residents, signed by E. Francis Hanlon, president of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce and William F. Gekle, Jr., chairman of the Retail Division of the chamber says:

You have been led to believe that the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce and the merchants of Poughkeepsie have opposed the construction of the Rhinecliff-Kingston bridge. In a message is-

Committee Passes Resolution Tying Issue to Bill on Draft

Washington, March 10 (AP)—The troops-for-Europe controversy, still unsettled in the Senate, spread today to the House.

With reported unanimous backing, the House Republican policy committee yesterday adopted a resolution tying the troop issue to a bill extending and toughening the draft law.

The committee proposes to amend the draft law by providing that "no troops shall be committed to the European area as proposed under the Atlantic Pact arrangement until the necessary authorization for such committal is approved by both bodies of the Congress."

The resolution asserted the Republicans' conviction that Congress, and not the President alone, has the power to decide whether American ground forces shall be sent to Europe. By Congress, the GOP leaders made clear, they mean the House of Representatives and the Senate, not the Senate alone.

Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen there is a "good chance" that the amendment would be accepted by the House Armed Services Committee when it sends a draft bill to the House floor in the next few weeks. The amendment was co-sponsored by Representatives Halleck (R.-Ind.) and Arends (R.-Ill.), the latter a member of the Armed Services Committee.

Wouldn't Risk Prediction

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee wouldn't risk a prediction about what his group would do. But Speaker Sam Rayburn doubted that the House would back up the Republican proposal.

He pointed out that the pro-

Verdict of $35,000 Given In Tarrock Drowning Case

A verdict of $35,000 for plaintiff was returned Friday afternoon in the action brought by Mrs. Ernest Tarrock of Port Ewen against the City of Kingston, an action brought to recover $70,000 for death of her husband who was drowned on February 4, 1949, when his car went into the slip off Dock street.

The case was concluded Friday and sent to the jury. After a 50-minute deliberation the jurors returned a verdict at 4:30 o'clock. Arthur A. Davis, Jr., and John E. Egan appeared for plaintiff. Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly appeared for the city.

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth reserved motions until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Tarrock, operator of a gas station and restaurant at Port Ewen, was driving over Ravine street and had entered Dock street which runs along the slip, a body of water between the Island Dock and the Kingston shore. It is alleged his car skidded on the icy pavement and went into the creek.

Plaintiff alleged the city was negligent in not having a guard rail along Dock street bordering the slip.

On the day of the accident it had been snowing and sleeting. The city maintained there had been no negligence in the care or construction of Dock street and that the defendant was guilty of contributory negligence.

Nomination of Officers, Annual Public Banquet Also Planned; Stang Is Guest Speaker

More than 100 delegates from Young Republican Clubs throughout the state are in Kingston today for the quarterly board meeting of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs, Inc.

The association comprises more than 150 clubs with a total membership of 17,000.

Committee meetings got under way this morning at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The general session of the board is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. A banquet, to which the public is invited, will be held at the hotel tonight with Frederick Stang, Ulster county attorney, as guest speaker.

Will Pick Convention Site

Business to be transacted today includes the nomination of a slate of officers to be voted upon at the association's annual convention in May, and the naming of the site for that annual convention.

Presiding over today's sessions is President F. Clifton White, Republican city chairman of Ithaca. He is expected to be nominated to succeed himself. Other nominations expected to be made today include Wilma Sivertsen of Manhattan, for vice president, and William Rusher of Manhattan, for chairman of the board of governors.

Pacific Volcano Erupts

Tokyo, March 10 (AP)—Mount Mihara, a volcano on Oshima Island 50 miles south of Tokyo in the Pacific, erupted late yesterday. Three streams of lava coursed down the sides of the 2,500-foot peak and engulfed two homes. Seismologists at Tokyo University said no further eruptions were expected.

Senate Okays Gurney

Washington, March 10 (AP)—The Senate has unanimously confirmed the nomination of Chan Gurney, former Republican senator from South Dakota, as a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board. The Senate acted yesterday. Gurney succeeds Harold A. Armstrong, resigned, in the $15,000 a year job.

Chief Factors Are Defense, Teacher Pay in Hiking Expenses

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—Governor Dewey asked the Legislature today to appropriate $56,185,490 more than called for in his record smashing main budget of $938,940,000. This makes the total $995,125,490.

A $13,700,000 appropriation for civil defense and $32,000,000 for state employe and teacher pay raises are the chief factors in the all-time high supplemental budget.

The supplemental bill is virtually certain of approval next week by the Republican-controlled Legislature.

In addition to the $56,000,000 general fund appropriations, the supplemental bill provides for $48,400,000 from the capital construction fund, most of it for highway construction if such work is permitted by the federal government in view of defense needs.

Cupboard Almost Bare

This year's supplement, plus nearly $5,000,000 being appropriated in special bills, will leave the state's "operating surplus" cupboard practically bare, even counting $6,000,000 expected in revenue for five months from the new weight-distance tax on heavy trucks. The tax will go into effect in July.

The Legislature's financial chairmen, Senator Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, explained this in a statement as the supplemental bill was introduced.

Dewey had anticapted $45,000,000 of the supplemental total, and that amount was reserved.

Mahoney and Stephens said the anticipated truck tax revenue and an $8,000,000 repayment by the State Bridge Authority for the Mid-Hudson Bridge had raised to $61,200,000 the total available for appropriation from the general fund. This minus the supplemental budget leaves $5,000,000. But $2,000,000 of that will be counted for administration of the truck tax and setting up weighing stations. Another $2,600,000 will be required by other special bills.

Big Share for Localities

Dewey asked $34,836,342 for state purposes and $21,349,148 for local assistance.

Heading the list from the state purposes fund are $19,000,000 in "emergency compensation" for state employes and the civil defense appropriation.

Mahoney and Stephens said that "practically all of the increases * * * are a result of the inflationary effects of our national defense effort or, as in the case of civil defense appropriations, due directly to the state's role in defense."

Of the civil defense appropriation, 10,000,000 is earmarked for stockpiling medical and hospital

Leon Krom Injured In Car, Train Crash

Leon Krom, 39, of 38 Pine Grove avenue was seriously injured last evening about 7:30 o'clock when the car he was operating from West Athens easterly to Athens was struck by a West Shore freight train, according to state police. His car was demolished.

Krom suffered a fractured skull, fractured ribs and a broken arm and multiple injuries to the face and about the body. He was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital at Catskill where his condition was reported as fair today.

State Troopers from Catskill investigated and reported the train was proceeding over the crossing at about 30 miles an hour. Krom apparently failed to stop at the crossing, Troopers said. Krom was alone at the time.

'Paltz Marine Is Killed in Korea

Marine Private First Class William Harold Hoiles III, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hoiles, Jr., 6 Orchard Place, New Paltz, was killed in action while fighting with the First Marine Division in Korea March 2, it was announced today.

His parents received word of the battle casualty in a telegram from the War Department this week.

Pfc. Hoiles, who had been in Korea since late January, was president of the senior class at New Paltz High School in 1949.

Following graduation from high school, he enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps and received his boot training at Parris Island, S. C. Later he was transferred to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., from where he received an honorable discharge last July.

He was recalled to marine service last October and was sent to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for additional training.

Before attending New Paltz High School, Pfc. Hoiles attended the Staunton Military Academy for two years. He had been a member of the New Paltz Fire Department.

Besides his parents, the young marine is survived by a brother, David, 13, also of New Paltz; and a grandmother, Mrs. William Hoiles, New Paltz.

Weitman Gets 22 Months

New York, March 10 (AP)—Confessed diamond smuggler Leiser Weitman wept silently yesterday as he was sentenced to 22 months in federal prison and fined $2,000. The 31-year-old Austrian had pleaded guilty to two charges of smuggling some $745,000 worth of gems into this counrty. He concealed them in the hollowed heels of his shoes and on his person.

Reporters Unofficially Told by AFL and CIO They Disagree on Dispute Plan

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Eric Johnston's effort to make a compromise peace in the wage control controversy ran into reportedly adamant opposition today from organized labor.

The economic stabilization administrator, in week-long conferences behind closed doors, was understood to be pressing labor and industry to accept a remodeled wage stabilization board with limited power to settle labor disputes.

Some industry figures were said to lean to such a solution provided the board handled disputes arising only from wages and other "economic issues." But reporters got this unofficial word from both A.F.L. and C.I.O. sources: "That isn't good enough."

For Good of Defense

Union leaders, it was learned, are insisting that the board have jurisdiction in any dispute which threatens defense production, even those involving such "non-economic" issues as seniority, grievances and union security.

The board, originally set up with three members each from industry, labor and the public, remained crippled by labor's refusal to let union representatives serve. And industry spokesmen have indicated they will refuse to serve if the board is given unlimited jurisdiction to settle disputes.

Officials were discouraged, meantime, by a new wholesale price index which hit a new all-time high. Wholesale prices rose three-tenths of one per cent in the week ended March 6, to a level 20.2 per cent over a year ago and 17 per cent above last June.

This dimmed hopes that the price advance was broken. In the two previous weeks the index paused and dipped slightly. In the new report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics the wholesale index stood at 183.5—meaning that prices were 83.5 per cent above the base year, 1926.

Control Developments

Activity in the federal control agencies meantime went on at top speed. The developments included:

1. The Office of Price Stabilization, having rolled back most soap prices yesterday, prepared to set dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on ham, pork chops, sausages and other pork products.

Price officials said the soap order, which rolls back manufacturers' prices to the level of early December, will give housewives a saving in many store of one cent on a bar of soap and perhaps two cents on a box of soap chips or flakes.

2. A high official of the National Production Authority said use of steel in auto and major home appliances probably will be cut by 30 per cent in the quarter starting July 1. The curtailment starting next month is 20 per cent.

3. NPA said it is "watching for evidence" that manufacutrers are dropping lower-priced lines of merchandise in order to use scarce materials in models which return better profits. The tendency has

Artillery Helps Crumble Stronghold North of Han River

Tokyo, March 10 (AP)—United Nations troops rammed their bridgehead across the Han river 10 miles wide and nearly six miles deep before noon today east of Seoul.

Flam-throwing tanks rumbled ahead of U. N. fighting units and spit their fiery streams into Communist foxholes.

"We killed a batch of them and have driven many more back into the hills," one frontline officer said.

Patrols of the 35th and famed Wolfhound Regiments ranged off the Seoul plains into rugged hills to the north.

The Communists fought back with automatic weapons and mortar fire.

Intelligence officers of the 25th (Tropic Lightning) Division said the mighty United Nations artillery bombardment and infantry drive across the Han apparently had broken the back of the Communists' first defense line north of the river.

They said the Reds probably had pulled back to defend the main road leading west to Seoul. This is about five miles north of the present line.

Skies were gray but the weather was mild as the doughboys slowly and methodically pushed their northward advance. They searched every yard of ground.

When the Reds showed fight, the allied units called for artillery barrages. Then they threw their own firepower into the Chinese positions and finally climbed the hills to capture or kill any who stood their ground.

Take 300 Prisoners

"The more than 300 prisoners we collected already would make up one of their battalions," an officer said.

Farther west, U. S. First Cavalry Division troops pushed along razorback ridges east and southwest of Yongdong. They were fighting up the road to the Red supply center of Hongchon.

Their commander, Maj. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, said the cavalrymen have forced the Reds to abandon their best positions.

"We are picking up a considerable amount of equipment and it looks as though we are killing plenty of them," he said.

In the center of the line, Greek troops advanced as much as four miles against moderate to stiff resistance. The British 27th Commonwealth Division rolled ahead more than one mile.

Marines Drive Ahead

American marines pushed ahead another mile north of Hoengsong. The leathernecks called for air strikes and slammed artillery barrages into Red positions honey-combing a row of 3,000 foot high mountains.

Jellied gasoline hit in searing flames. Rockets zoomed into the ridges. Bombs smashed against the peaks. Smoke from a dozen fires shrouded the ridgeline.

"That ought to help soften

Batory May Lose Its New York Dock

New York, March 10 (AP)—The Polish liner Batory, which has been in hot water with U. S. authorities since Communist Gerhart Eisler escaped this country aboard her, may lose its New York docking facilities.

The Batory, owened by the Gdynia-American Line, has been using a French line pier. However, the French company says it needs the pier for its own use. The Batory's pier lease expires March 30.

Moreover, City Marine Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh, Jr., said yesterday he considers the Batory "an undesirable occupant" of city piers.

New York piers are leased to ship lines and must get city permission to share another line's facilities. Cavanagh indicated the Polish line would have trouble getting other pier space.

Eisler, alleged onetime No. 1 U. S. Communist, stowed away aboard the Batory in May, 1949, and escaped to the Soviet zone of Germany. He had been free in bond on contempt of Congress and passport fraud charges.

Since then, the liner has been thoroughly searched by Federal authorities each time it docked in New York. The ship's crew has been ordered to stay aboard while in New York.

The Legislature's financial chairmen, Senator Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, explained this in a statement as the supplemental bill was introduced.

Dewey had anticapted $45,000,000 of the supplemental total, and that amount was reserved.

Mahoney and Stephens said the anticipated truck tax revenue and an $8,000,000 repayment by the State Bridge Authority for the Mid-Hudson Bridge had raised to $61,200,000 the total available for appropriation from the general fund. This minus the supplemental budget leaves $5,000,000. But $2,000,000 of that will be counted for administration of the truck tax and setting up weighing stations. Another $2,600,000 will be required by other special bills.

Big Share for Localities

Dewey asked $34,836,342 for state purposes and $21,349,148 for local assistance.

Heading the list from the state purposes fund are $19,000,000 in "emergency compensation" for state employes and the civil defense appropriation.

Mahoney and Stephens said that "practically all of the increases • • • are a result of the inflationary effects of our national defense effort or, as in the case of civil defense appropriations, due directly to the state's role in defense."

Of the civil defense appropriation, 10,000,000 is earmarked for stockpiling medical and hospital

Leon Krom Injured In Car, Train Crash

Leon Krom, 39, of 38 Pine Grove avenue was seriously injured last evening about 7:30 o'clock when the car he was operating from West Athens easterly to Athens was struck by a West Shore freight train, according to state police. His car was demolished.

Krom suffered a fractured skull, fractured ribs and a broken arm and multiple injuries to the face and about the body. He was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital at Catskill where his condition was reported as fair today.

State Troopers from Catskill investigated and reported the train was proceeding over the crossing at about 30 miles an hour. Krom apparently failed to stop at the crossing. Troopers said. Krom was alone at the time.

'Paltz Marine Is Killed in Korea

Marine Private First Class William Harold Hoiles III, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hoiles, Jr., 6 Orchard Place, New Paltz, was killed in action while fighting with the First Marine Division in Korea March 2, it was announced today.

His parents received word of the battle casualty in a telegram from the War Department this week.

Pfc. Hoiles, who had been in Korea since late January, was president of the senior class at New Paltz High School in 1949.

Following graduation from high school, he enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps and received his boot training at Parris Island, S. C. Later he was transferred to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., from where he received an honorable discharge last July.

He was recalled to marine service last October and was sent to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for additional training.

Before attending New Paltz High School, Pfc. Hoiles attended the Staunton Military Academy for two years. He had been a member of the New Paltz Fire Department.

Besides his parents, the young marine is survived by a brother, David, 13, also of New Paltz; and a grandmother, Mrs. William Hoiles, New Paltz.

Weitman Gets 22 Months

New York, March 10 (AP)—Confessed diamond smuggler Leiser Weitman wept silently yesterday as he was sentenced to 22 months in federal prison and fined $2,000. The 31-year-old Austrian had pleaded guilty to two charges of smuggling some $745,000 worth of gems into this counrty. He concealed them in the hollowed heels of his shoes and on his person.

Reporters Unofficially Told by AFL and CIO They Disagree on Dispute Plan

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Eric Johnston's effort to make a compromise peace in the wage control controversy ran into reportedly adamant opposition today from organized labor.

The economic stabilization administrator, in week-long conferences behind closed doors, was understood to be pressing labor and industry to accept a remodeled wage stabilization board with limited power to settle labor disputes.

Some industry figures were said to lean to such a solution provided the board handled disputes arising only from wages and other "economic issues." But reporters got this unofficial word from both A.F.L. and C.I.O. sources: "That isn't good enough."

For Good of Defense

Union leaders, it was learned, are insisting that the board have jurisdiction in any dispute which threatens defense production, even those involving such "non-economic" issues as seniority, grievances and union security.

The board, originally set up with three members each from industry, labor and the public, remained crippled by labor's refusal to let union representatives serve. And industry spokesmen have indicated they will refuse to serve if the board is given unlimited jurisdiction to settle disputes.

Officials were discouraged, meantime, by a new wholesale price index which hit a new all-time high. Wholesale prices rose three-tenths of one per cent in the week ended March 6, to a level 20.2 per cent over a year ago and 17 per cent above last June.

This dimmed hopes that the price advance was broken. In the two previous weeks the index paused and dipped slightly. In the new report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics the wholesale index stood at 183.5—meaning that prices were 83.5 per cent above the base year, 1926.

Control Developments

Activity in the federal control agencies meantime went on at top speed. The developments included:

1. The Office of Price Stabilization, having rolled back most soap prices yesterday, prepared to set dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on ham, pork chops, sausages and other pork products.

Price officials said the soap order, which rolls back manufacturers' prices to the level of early December, will give housewives a saving in many store of one cent on a bar of soap and perhaps two cents on a box of soap chips or flakes.

2. A high official of the National Production Authority said use of steel in auto and major home appliances probably will be cut by 30 per cent in the quarter starting July 1. The curtailment starting next month is 20 per cent.

3. NPA said it is "watching for evidence" that manufacutrers are dropping lower-priced lines of merchandise in order to use scarce materials in models which return better profits. The tendency has

Artillery Helps Crumble Stronghold North of Han River

Tokyo, March 10 (AP)—United Nations troops rammed their bridgehead across the Han river 10 miles wide and nearly six miles deep before noon today east of Seoul.

Flam-throwing tanks rumbled ahead of U. N. fighting units and spit their fiery streams into Communist foxholes.

"We killed a batch of them and have driven many more back into the hills," one frontline officer said.

Patrols of the 35th and famed Wolfhound Regiments ranged off the Seoul plains into rugged hills to the north.

The Communists fought back with automatic weapons and mortar fire.

Intelligence officers of the 25th (Tropic Lightning) Division said the mighty United Nations artillery bombardment and infantry drive across the Han apparently had broken the back of the Communists' first defense line north of the river.

They said the Reds probably had pulled back to defend the main road leading west to Seoul. This is about five miles north of the present line.

Skies were gray but the weather was mild as the doughboys slowly and methodically pushed their northward advance. They searched every yard of ground.

When the Reds showed fight, the allied units called for artillery barrages. Then they threw their own firepower into the Chinese positions and finally climbed the hills to capture or kill any who stood their ground.

Take 300 Prisoners

"The more than 300 prisoners we collected already would make up one of their battalions," an officer said.

Farther west, U. S. First Cavalry Division troops pushed along razorback ridges east and southwest of Yongdong. They were fighting up the road to the Red supply center of Hongchon.

Their commander, Maj. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, said the cavalrymen have forced the Reds to abandon their best positions.

"We are picking up a considerable amount of equipment and it looks as though we are killing plenty of them," he said.

In the center of the line, Greek troops advanced as much as four miles against moderate to stiff resistance. The British 27th Commonwealth Division rolled ahead more than one mile.

Marines Drive Ahead

Jellied gasoline hit in searing flames. Rockets zoomed into the ridges. Bombs smashed against the peaks. Smoke from a dozen fires shrouded the ridgeline.

Batory May Lose Its New York Dock

New York, March 10 (AP)—The Polish liner Batory, which has been in hot water with U. S. authorities since Communist Gerhart Eisler escaped this country aboard her, may lose its New York docking facilities.

The Batory, owened by the Gdynia-American Line, has been using a French line pier. However, the French company says it needs the pier for its own use. The Batory's pier lease expires March 30.

Moreover, City Marine Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh, Jr., said yesterday he considers the Batory "an undesirable occupant" of city piers.

New York piers are leased to ship lines and must get city permission to share another line's facilities. Cavanagh indicated the Polish line would have trouble getting other pier space.

Eisler, alleged onetime No. 1 U. S. Communist, stowed away aboard the Batory in May, 1949, and escaped to the Soviet zone of Germany. He had been free in bond on contempt of Congress and passport fraud charges.

Since then, the liner has been thoroughly searched by Federal authorities each time it docked in New York. The ship's crew has been ordered to stay aboard while in New York.

Senate Gives Sweeping Approval to Military Training, Draft of 18's

Similar Bill Pending in House Committee on Armed Services for Nation

Vote 79 to 5

Yesterday's Approval Comes After Weeks of Argument

Washington, March 10 (AP)—The Senate approved yesterday a permanent program for building up the nation's fighting strength through universal military training and the draft of 18-year-olds. The vote was 79 to five.

A similar measure is pending in the House Armed Services Committee.

Members said today they hope to begin voting early next week on proposed amendments. Some House leaders predicted the measure would be ready for final House action before Easter vacation.

The top-heavy Senate approval came after weeks of hearings and arguments. Only five Republican senators opposed passage: Dirksen of Illinois, Jenner of Indiana, Langer of North Dakota, Schoeppel of Kansas and Welker of Idaho.

Support of the measure actually was stronger than the vote indicated. Four Democrats and five Republicans, unable to remain for the final balloting, were announced as favoring passage.

Shout for Vote

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.), who managed the universal military training and service (UMTS) bill through lengthy hearings and then a week of stormy debate, had prepared an appeal for unity on the final test. But tired senators, after eight hours of debate and many roll-calls, shouted "vote, vote, vote."

Under UMTS, this active duty would be followed by reserve service for a total of eight years.

The bill would extend the present 21 months service required of drafted men—and national guardsmen and reserves called back—to 24 months.

Johnson's subcommittee had recommended 26 months after the Pentagon asked 27.

The Senate put a ceiling of 4,000,000 persons on the combined army, air force, navy and marines. Last August when things were going badly in Korea Congress suspended for four years the manpower ceilings then of just over 2,000,000.

Held on Revolt Charges

Lahore, Pakistan, March 10 (AP)—Pakistan's army chief-of-staff, his wife and two other persons were arrested yesterday on charges of trying to stir up a revolt. Prime Minister Liaquat Aly Khan said the conspiracy had been discovered in time, but added, "these plans, had they succeeded, would have struck at the very foundations of our national existence and disrupted the stability of Pakistan."

Syrian Cabinet Resigns

Dame Rumor, Quill Best School Papers

New York, March 9 (Special)—Competing with publications of other schools in a nationwide contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, entries by the students of two local schools took high honors here today.

The announcement of winners among the 1,300 papers, representing schools in nearly every part of the United States, marked a highlight of the three-day convention of the association.

Dame Rumor, put out by students of Kingston High School, took first place among printed newspapers of senior high schools with from 1,500 to 2,500 pupils. Among duplicated newspapers of senior high schools with from 500 to 750 students, The Quill of Ellenville High School placed second.

Consideration was given by the judges to such matters as make-up, typography, news content and features.

Nearly 3,500 student journalists have come to the Columbia campus for the convention, which will conclude with a luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria. Ambassador Ernest Gross, first deputy of the American UN delegation, will be the principal speaker.

Dame Rumor is printed in The Kingston Daily Freeman job department.

Troops-for-Europe Wrangle Spreads From Senate to House

Poughkeepsie C.C. Not Opposed to Bridge, It Says

Letter to North Dutchess Residents Stresses Merchants Are Not Against Span

In an open letter to the residents of northern Dutchess county, the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as not opposing the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The communication stressed that the Retail Division, composed of merchants of Poughkeepsie, especially, has not taken a stand against construction of the span.

A movement has started in the Rhinebeck area of Dutchess county condemning Poughkeepsie interests opposed to the bridge, charging them with "purposely and viciously injuring the prosperity and development of the County of Dutchess."

The northern Dutchess group specifically named the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A portion of its statement said, "it would seem that the merchants of Poughkeepsie and the Junior Chamber of Commerce no longer want, require or appreciate the patronage of the people of the rural areas . . ."

The open letter to northern Dutchess residents, signed by E. Francis Hanlon, president of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce and William F. Gekle, Jr., chairman of the Retail Division of the chamber says:

You have been led to believe that the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce and the merchants of Poughkeepsie have opposed the construction of the Rhinecliff-Kingston bridge. In a message is-

Committee Passes Resolution Tying Issue to Bill on Draft

Washington, March 10 (AP)—The troops-for-Europe controversy, still unsettled in the Senate, spread today to the House.

With reported unanimous backing, the House Republican policy committee yesterday adopted a resolution tying the troop issue to a bill extending and toughening the draft law.

The committee proposes to amend the draft law by providing that "no troops shall be committed to the European area as proposed under the Atlantic Pact arrangement until the necessary authorization for such committal is approved by both bodies of the Congress."

The resolution asserted the Republicans' conviction that Congress, and not the President alone, has the power to decide whether American ground forces shall be sent to Europe. By Congress, the GOP leaders made clear, they mean the House of Representatives and the Senate, not the Senate alone.

Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen there is a "good chance" that the amendment would be accepted by the House Armed Services Committee when it sends a draft bill to the House floor in the next few weeks. The amendment was co-sponsored by Representatives Halleck (R.-Ind.) and Arends (R.-Ill.), the latter a member of the Armed Services Committee.

Wouldn't Risk Prediction

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee wouldn't risk a prediction about what his group would do. But Speaker Sam Rayburn doubted that the House would back up the Republican proposal.

He pointed out that the pro-

Verdict of $35,000 Given In Tarrock Drowning Case

A verdict of $35,000 for plaintiff was returned Friday afternoon in the action brought by Mrs. Ernest Tarrock of Port Ewen against the City of Kingston, an action brought to recover $70,000 for death of her husband who was drowned on February 4, 1949, when his car went into the slip off Dock street.

The case was concluded Friday and sent to the jury. After a 50-minute deliberation the jurors returned a verdict at 4:30 o'clock. Arthur A. Davis, Jr., and John E. Egan appeared for plaintiff. Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly appeared for the city.

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth reserved motions until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Tarrock, operator of a gas station and restaurant at Port Ewen, was driving over Ravine street and had entered Dock street which runs along the slip, a body of water between the Island Dock and the Kingston shore. It is alleged his car skidded on the icy pavement and went into the creek.

Plaintiff alleged the city was negligent in not having a guard rail along Dock street bordering the slip.

On the day of the accident it had been snowing and sleeting. The city maintained there had been no negligence in the care or construction of Dock street and that the defendant was guilty of contributory negligence.

Chief Factors Are Defense, Teacher Pay in Hiking Expenses

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—Governor Dewey asked the Legislature today to appropriate $56,185,490 more than called for in his record smashing main budget of $938,940,000. This makes the total $995,125,490.

A $13,700,000 appropriation for civil defense and $32,000,000 for state employe and teacher pay raises are the chief factors in the all-time high supplemental budget.

The supplemental bill is virtually certain of approval next week by the Republican-controlled Legislature.

In addition to the $56,000,000 general fund appropriations, the supplemental bill provides for $48,400,000 from the capital construction fund, most of it for highway construction if such work is permitted by the federal government in view of defense needs.

Cupboard Almost Bare

This year's supplement, plus nearly $5,000,000 being appropriated in special bills, will leave the state's "operating surplus" cupboard practically bare, even counting $6,000,000 expected in revenue for five months from the new weight-distance tax on heavy trucks. The tax will go into effect in July.

The Legislature's financial chairmen, Senator Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, explained this in a statement as the supplemental bill was introduced.

Dewey had anticapted $45,000,000 of the supplemental total, and that amount was reserved.

Mahoney and Stephens said the anticipated truck tax revenue and an $8,000,000 repayment by the State Bridge Authority for the Mid-Hudson Bridge had raised to $61,200,000 the total available for appropriation from the general fund. THE WAY TO CALVARY

COPR. 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Ever since the miracle of Lazarus' restoration to life, the high priest Caiaphas had deemed it expedient that Christ should die. He feared all men would believe Him and the nation would perish.

From that day on the temple powers had plotted His death, and Christ remained hidden. Thus, when Judas came to bargain for Christ's betrayal, Annas and Caiaphas offered him 30 pieces of silver.

Thirty Pieces of Silver

Judas accepted and waited for an opportunity. His chance was soon to come, when Jesus prepared to re-enter Jerusalem to keep the Passover.

Led Prayer in Senate

Passion Play Will Be Enacted Twice By Uptown Church

The Old First Reformed Church will stage its annual production of the Passion Play Palm Sunday evening, March 18, and the following Monday evening at 8 o'clock both nights.

The third cycle of the play will be given this year. It consists of 19 dramatized scenes and 13 narrations between scenes. The story begins with Jesus as a boy in His father's carpenter shop and traces His ministry and the events leading to His death. The final scene is Easter morning.

The cast includes 62 adults and 10 children. A choir of 40 voices will render the "Crucify Chorus" from "The Seven Last Words," and also "The Hallelujah Chorus," by Handel. There will be organ background music during most of the production.

Stage construction is under direction of James Little and William Read. Joseph Flowers, Henry Millonig and Kenneth Kukuk are in charge of special lighting effects. Four new scenic backdrops have been painted by Wesley Hogan. The costume committee headed by Mrs. J. S. DuMond and Mrs. Kenneth Kukuk has been finishing new robes and headdresses. Every effort is made to be authentic in detail.

The first of the Passion Plays was presented two years ago. It has been estimated that more than 2,000 persons have seen the first two cycles. The play has been written and compiled by Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool and will be under her direction, with assistance by Miss Alberta Davis and Miss Dorothy DuMond. A free-will offering will be received at the performance, which is open to the public.

The third cycle of the play will be given this year. It consists of 19 dramatized scenes and 13 narrations between scenes. The story begins with Jesus as a boy in His father's carpenter shop and traces His ministry and the events leading to His death. The final scene is Easter morning.

The cast includes 62 adults and 10 children. A choir of 40 voices will render the "Crucify Chorus" from "The Seven Last Words," and also "The Hallelujah Chorus," by Handel. There will be organ background music during most of the production.

Stage construction is under direction of James Little and William Read. Joseph Flowers, Henry Millonig and Kenneth Kukuk are in charge of special lighting effects. Four new scenic backdrops have been painted by Wesley Hogan. The costume committee headed by Mrs. J. S. DuMond and Mrs. Kenneth Kukuk has been finishing new robes and headdresses. Every effort is made to be authentic in detail.

The first of the Passion Plays was presented two years ago. It has been estimated that more than 2,000 persons have seen the first two cycles. The play has been written and compiled by Mrs. Arthur E. THE WAY TO CALVARY

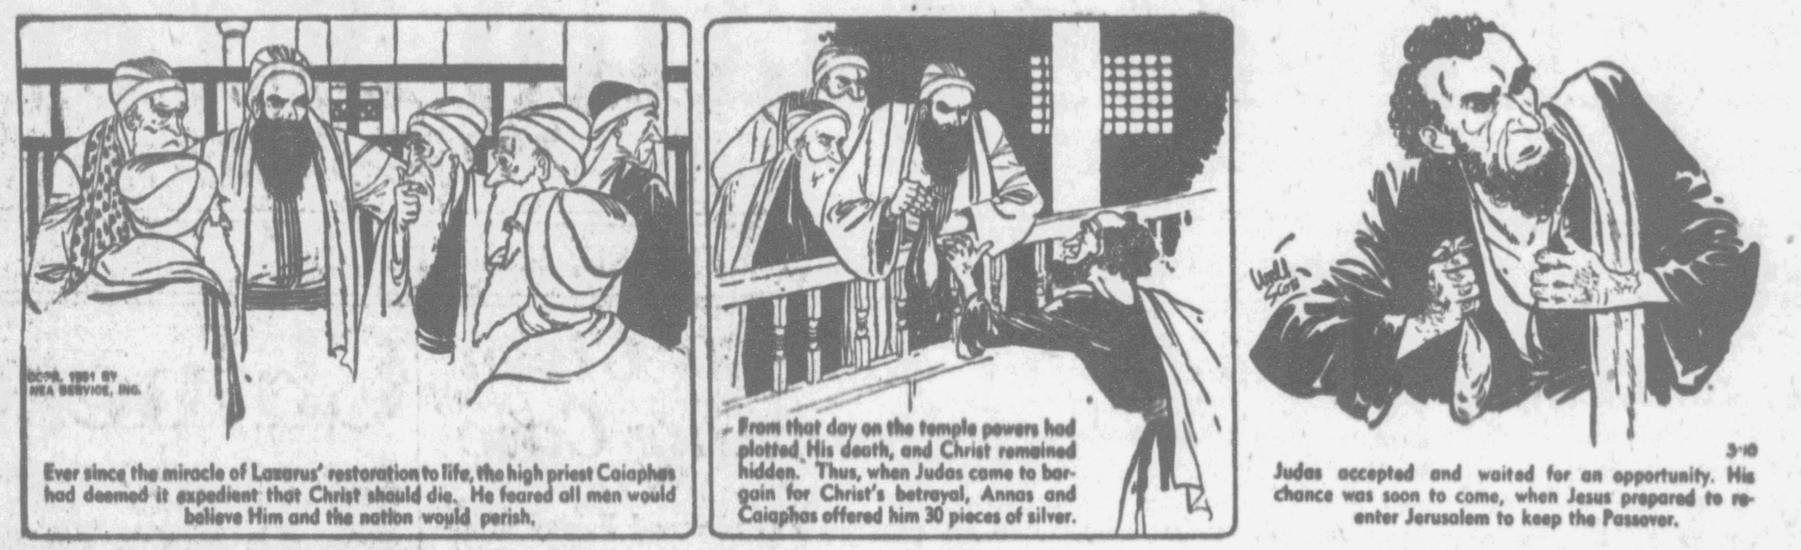
Thirty Pieces of Silver



Ever since the miracle of Lazarus' restoration to life, the high priest Caiaphas had deemed it expedient that Christ should die. He feared all men would believe Him and the nation would perish.

From that day on the temple powers had plotted His death, and Christ remained hidden. Thus, when Judas came to bargain for Christ's betrayal, Annas and Caiaphas offered him 30 pieces of silver.

Judas accepted and waited for an opportunity. His chance was soon to come, when Jesus prepared to re-enter Jerusalem to keep the Passover.

The third cycle of the play will be given this year. It consists of 19 dramatized scenes and 13 narrations between scenes. The story begins with Jesus as a boy in His father's carpenter shop and traces His ministry and the events leading to His death. The final scene is Easter morning.

The cast includes 62 adults and 10 children. A choir of 40 voices will render the "Crucify Chorus" from "The Seven Last Words," and also "The Hallelujah Chorus," by Handel. There will be organ background music during most of the production.

Stage construction is under direction of James Little and William Read. Joseph Flowers, Henry Millonig and Kenneth Kukuk are in charge of special lighting effects. Four new scenic backdrops have been painted by Wesley Hogan. The costume committee headed by Mrs. J. S. DuMond and Mrs. Kenneth Kukuk has been finishing new robes and headdresses. Opera Hat to Speed Up Parliament Procedure

London, March 10 (AP)—Hatless members of Parliament won't have to run around trying to borrow a woman's blue velvet toque any more. An old opera hat has been given to the House of Commons to speed up procedure.

The rule in Commons is that no member can raise a point of order after a vote has been called except when seated with a hat on.

Many MP's don't wear hats. And they have been borrowing that of Miss Irene Ward, Conservative.

The thought of an MP in a woman's velvet toque so distressed Mrs. Florence Lucy of Hollingbourne, Kent, that she sent Prime Minister Attlee an opera hat which belonged to her late husband.

Attlee replied with a letter of thanks. He said the opera hat hereafter will handy by the speaker's chair—ready for any emergency.

Asks Wood Pulp Hike

S. the OPS officials said, for use in making kraft and bond paper. They said one main type of pulp now sells at $187 a ton.

THE COLUMBUS

Simplicity Is Factor In Home Planning

Simplicity should be the governing factor in small-home planning, as excess maintenance costs caused by bad design add additional burdens.

This does not imply that the small house must be an unsightly box. Small homes can be built to afford adequate living accommodations at a minimum cost when poor-design factors are avoided.

Citing the pure simplicity of the Williamsburg and Cape Cod types, officials point to their straight-forward and honest design and lack of false fronts to detract from their inherent dignity and character.

Symmetry in architectural details should be subordinated to honesty in small-home architecture, as a desire for symmetry frequently results in complicated construction problems which add considerably to the total cost of the home.

Penetrating Sealer Best For a Much-Used Floor

Penetrating floor sealers are used frequently on floors where traffic is heavy. These finishes sink into the pores of the wood, leaving practically no surface film for wearing away. Worn spots are renewed by wiping on more of the material. These sealers are applied with a wide brush or with a special applicator, working across the grain and then smoothing out in the direction of the grain. Buffing with an electrical floor machine or with steel wool is recommended.

Invisible Balances

Home owners who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring completely enclosed in a spiraled tube operating with a brass bearing arm on the worm gear principle.

Basement Lavatory

A lavatory in the basement will prove a very practical and much-used utility. If you do not have one, you might like to put one in your home. It should be placed under a window so it will have adequate light, and should have a shelf above for soap, brushes, etc. The walls and door should be painted a bright, cheerful color in a good washable paint. It is a good idea to apply a ring of dark-colored paint around the door-knob so that soiled fingerprints will not show up as would be the case on the lighter paint.

Finish of Sponge Mottle

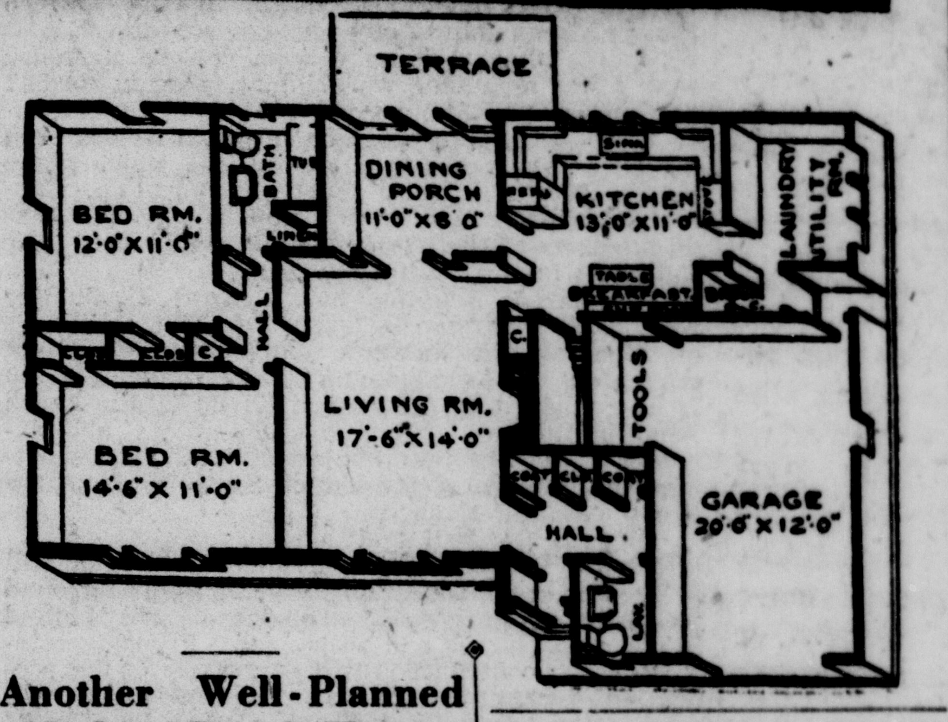
A sponge mottle finish is sometimes applied to wall surfaces where the surface is uneven or patched places show. It is also useful at times on enameled floors or linoleum where the muddy footprints of children and dogs are frequently a problem. It's applied by brushing out the color to be used in mottling on a board, and pressing a sponge against it. The sponge is then lightly pressed against the dry surface on which the mottling color is desired.

Metallic Paint

Steam and hot water radiators should be painted with oil pigment or enamel, never a metallic paint, say heating engineers who have found that a coating of metallic paint cuts down radiator heating efficiency as much as 15 per cent. Efficiency of radiators that have been treated with metallic paint can be improved by removing as much of the old paint as possible with a wire brush and a solvent and repainting with good quality oil paint.

Central Heating Plant

More than 40 per cent of the 8,000,000 homes surveyed by a governmental agency in 203 urban cities do not have central heating equipment. As many as 32 per cent of the dwelling units in the northeast section of the country and 40 per cent in the northwest are without central heating.



Another Well-Planned Modern Ranch House

Rooms	Five
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Nine
Cubage	28,000
Dimensions	50' x 27'

The long one-story building, the broken roof line, and the picture windows flanked by Hollywood casement windows, give a modern appearance to the house.

The dining porch, which can be closed in; the two textured sidewalls, the garage roof ridge at right angles to the main roof ridge, and the square windows in the lavette and garage door, also add to the modern appearance of "The Columbus."

Containing five rooms, including two bedrooms, "The Columbus" has nine closets. The house is 50' x 27' in dimensions and has a cubic footage of 28,000 feet. A 70' minimum lot is required but a larger plot should be used, if possible, in order to avoid a crowded appearance.

Over-all charms of the house are greatly enhanced by the combination cut stone and clapboard sidewalls. Because "The Columbus" is a one-story building, the man of the house can easily take care of painting and minor repair jobs; he'll also find it easy to install or take down storm windows and screens.

The projection made by the overhanging roof provides shelter for the modern glazed front door which opens into the entry hallway. Glass panels in the front door provide light for this hallway. There are three coat closets conveniently located at the end of this hallway. The lavette, also at the end of this hall, is handy for visitors who want to "freshen-up."

A modern flush mantel fireplace is located on the inside wall of the spacious living room which measures 17'6" x 14'. A door beyond the fireplace leads to the kitchen. Ample light and ventilation is provided by the picture window in the front wall. The dining porch is visible at the rear of the living room through French doors, flanked by glass blocks. If the porch is to be enclosed, however, an archway could be used to separate the two rooms.

Dining Porch

Measuring 11' x 8', the dining porch, if enclosed, should have a door leading to the terrace. Picture windows, flanking this door, would further enhance the appearance of the porch and permit you to more fully enjoy and utilize the view from this section of the house. The other door from the dining porch leads directly into the kitchen.

In the sidewall of the living room, opposite the fireplace, is a door opening on a short hallway that separates the sleeping quarters from the rest of the house. At the further end of this hall is the bathroom which contains a good sized linen closet. Next to the bathroom is the back bedroom which is 12' x 11' in dimensions. The master bedroom, 14' 6" x 11', is located at the front of the house.

Boasting a large picture window, flanked by casement windows, the master bedroom is an exceptionally lovely room. Another window, in the side wall provides additional light and good cross ventilation. There is ample wall space for arranging large furniture pieces and the room contains a large closet on the inside wall.

Another closet is conveniently placed in the hall just outside the bedroom door.

Two windows in the back bedroom provide light and cross ventilation. Located in the center of the front inside wall, the closet in this room is in line with the hall master bedroom closets.

The kitchen and laundry utility room are located on the other side of the house. A closet back to the fireplace, is next to the door to the living room; the cellar stairs are just beyond.

U-Shaped Kitchen

There is a U-shaped counter in the 13' x 11' kitchen with the refrigerator located at one end of the counter, near the dining room door. The stove is at the other end of the arm. Centered beneath triple windows in the back wall, the sink divides the counter. Along the front wall is an excellent location for the breakfast nook with its overhead cupboards.

Next to the stove is the door to the laundry-utility room which is well-lighted by three windows in the side wall. A passageway in the front wall of this room provides access to the broom closet, the garage and the side door. Measuring 20' x 12', the garage has a large tool space at the side, while a side window provides plenty of light and ventilation.

In the full cement cellar the heating system should be placed beneath the living room; the rest of the area can be partitioned off to suit the owner's desires. Since laundry facilities are provided on the ground floor of the house, the builder could easily have full basement excavation under only the central portion of the house, if he so desires.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "the Columbus," or any other homes in this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y., and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Convector Radiators Suit Smaller Rooms

In furnishing small rooms, avoid the use of large, massive pieces of furniture which limit the available space for living and give the rooms a cramped, awkward appearance. Many of the newer pieces of furniture are designed especially for small rooms and should be selected with the size of the room in mind.

Permanent fixtures, such as heating units, also should be graceful and unobtrusive. In small homes heated with steam or hot water, convector radiators are effective. They are extremely compact, requiring little floor space, and they may be used either as free-standing units, flush against the walls, or as recessed units fitted snugly into the walls.

Walls of small rooms should be light in color, and plain. Dark colors tend to close in small rooms. By the same token, resist the temptation to use figured wallpapers. Mirrors help give an illusion of spaciousness to small rooms. Carpeting also helps, if it is plain and in light colors.

Forced Ventilation

Most basement recreation rooms cannot be well ventilated by natural means. Windows are necessarily high, and stale air, which is heavier than fresh air, falls to the floor and is trapped. A ventilating fan or some other form of forced draft should be installed in such rooms.

Watch for Mealy Bugs

Keep a close watch on house plants for pests, particularly the mealy bugs. This whitish, woolly appearing pest is a common nuisance, but it may be controlled by spraying with DDT or by dabbing each with alcohol.

Opera Hat to Speed Up Parliament Procedure

London, March 10 (AP)—Hatless members of Parliament won't have to run around trying to borrow a woman's blue velvet toque any more. An old opera hat has been given to the House of Commons to speed up procedure.

The rule in Commons is that no member can raise a point of order after a vote has been called except when seated with a hat on.

Many MP's don't wear hats. And they have been borrowing that of Miss Irene Ward, Conservative.

The thought of an MP in a woman's velvet toque so distressed Mrs. Florence Lucy of Hollingbourne, Kent, that she sent Prime Minister Attlee an opera hat which belonged to her late husband.

Attlee replied with a letter of thanks. He said the opera hat hereafter will handy by the speaker's chair—ready for any emergency.

Asks Wood Pulp Hike

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Government officials said yesterday Sweden has proposed a $100-a-ton increase in the price of wood pulp. Officials at the Office of Price Stabilization said they are "very concerned" that such an increase would boost paper prices. Sweden ships about 300,000 tons of wood pulp a year to the U. S. the OPS officials said, for use in making kraft and bond paper. They said one main type of pulp now sells at $187 a ton.

THE COLUMBUS

Simplicity Is Factor In Home Planning

Simplicity should be the governing factor in small-home planning, as excess maintenance costs caused by bad design add additional burdens.

This does not imply that the small house must be an unsightly box. Small homes can be built to afford adequate living accommodations at a minimum cost when poor-design factors are avoided.

Citing the pure simplicity of the Williamsburg and Cape Cod types, officials point to their straight-forward and honest design and lack of false fronts to detract from their inherent dignity and character.

Symmetry in architectural details should be subordinated to honesty in small-home architecture, as a desire for symmetry frequently results in complicated construction problems which add considerably to the total cost of the home.

Penetrating Sealer Best For a Much-Used Floor

Penetrating floor sealers are used frequently on floors where traffic is heavy. These finishes sink into the pores of the wood, leaving practically no surface film for wearing away. Worn spots are renewed by wiping on more of the material. These sealers are applied with a wide brush or with a special applicator, working across the grain and then smoothing out in the direction of the grain. Buffing with an electrical floor machine or with steel wool is recommended.

Invisible Balances

Home owners who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring completely enclosed in a spiraled tube operating with a brass bearing arm on the worm gear principle.

Basement Lavatory

A lavatory in the basement will prove a very practical and much-used utility. If you do not have one, you might like to put one in your home. It should be placed under a window so it will have adequate light, and should have a shelf above for soap, brushes, etc. The walls and door should be painted a bright, cheerful color in a good washable paint. It is a good idea to apply a ring of dark-colored paint around the door-knob so that soiled fingerprints will not show up as would be the case on the lighter paint.

Finish of Sponge Mottle

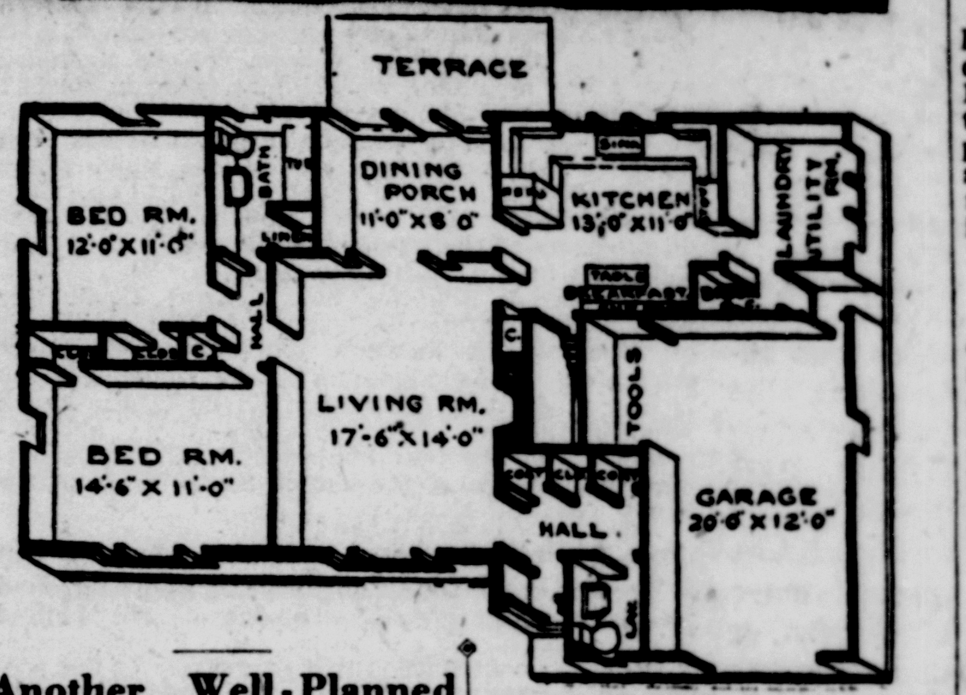
A sponge mottle finish is sometimes applied to wall surfaces where the surface is uneven or patched places show. It is also useful at times on enameled floors or linoleum where the muddy footprints of children and dogs are frequently a problem. It's applied by brushing out the color to be used in mottling on a board, and pressing a sponge against it. The sponge is then lightly pressed against the dry surface on which the mottling color is desired.

Metallic Paint

Steam and hot water radiators should be painted with oil pigment or enamel, never a metallic paint, say heating engineers who have found that a coating of metallic paint cuts down radiator heating efficiency as much as 15 per cent. Efficiency of radiators that have been treated with metallic paint can be improved by removing as much of the old paint as possible with a wire brush and a solvent and repainting with good quality oil paint.

Central Heating Plant

More than 40 per cent of the 8,000,000 homes surveyed by a governmental agency in 203 urban cities do not have central heating equipment. As many as 32 per cent of the dwelling units in the northeast section of the country and 40 per cent in the northwest are without central heating.



Another Well-Planned Modern Ranch House

Rooms	Five
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Nine
Cubage	28,000
Dimensions	50' x 27'

The long one-story building, the broken roof line, and the picture windows flanked by Hollywood casement windows, give a modern appearance to the house.

The dining porch, which can be closed in; the two textured sidewalls, the garage roof ridge at right angles to the main roof ridge, and the square windows in the lavette and garage door, also add to the modern appearance of "The Columbus."

Containing five rooms, including two bedrooms, "The Columbus" has nine closets. The house is 50' x 27' in dimensions and has a cubic footage of 28,000 feet. A 70' minimum lot is required but a larger plot should be used, if possible, in order to avoid a crowded appearance.

Over-all charms of the house are greatly enhanced by the combination cut stone and clapboard sidewalls. Because "The Columbus" is a one-story building, the man of the house can easily take care of painting and minor repair jobs; he'll also find it easy to install or take down storm windows and screens.

The projection made by the overhanging roof provides shelter for the modern glazed front door which opens into the entry hallway. Glass panels in the front door provide light for this hallway. There are three coat closets conveniently located at the end of this hallway. The lavette, also at the end of this hall, is handy for visitors who want to "freshen-up."

A modern flush mantel fireplace is located on the inside wall of the spacious living room which measures 17'6" x 14'. A door beyond the fireplace leads to the kitchen. Ample light and ventilation is provided by the picture window in the front wall. The dining porch is visible at the rear of the living room through French doors, flanked by glass blocks. If the porch is to be enclosed, however, an archway could be used to separate the two rooms.

Dining Porch

Measuring 11' x 8', the dining porch, if enclosed, should have a door leading to the terrace. Picture windows, flanking this door, would further enhance the appearance of the porch and permit you to more fully enjoy and utilize the view from this section of the house. The other door from the dining porch leads directly into the kitchen.

In the sidewall of the living room, opposite the fireplace, is a door opening on a short hallway that separates the sleeping quarters from the rest of the house. At the further end of this hall is the bathroom which contains a good sized linen closet. Next to the bathroom is the back bedroom which is 12' x 11' in dimensions. The master bedroom, 14' 6" x 11', is located at the front of the house.

Boasting a large picture window, flanked by casement windows, the master bedroom is an exceptionally lovely room. Another window, in the side wall provides additional light and good cross ventilation. There is ample wall space for arranging large furniture pieces and the room contains a large closet on the inside wall.

Another closet is conveniently placed in the hall just outside the bedroom door.

Two windows in the back bedroom provide light and cross ventilation. Located in the center of the front inside wall, the closet in this room is in line with the hall master bedroom closets.

The kitchen and laundry utility room are located on the other side of the house. A closet back to the fireplace, is next to the door to the living room; the cellar stairs are just beyond.

U-Shaped Kitchen

There is a U-shaped counter in the 13' x 11' kitchen with the refrigerator located at one end of the counter, near the dining room door. The stove is at the other end of the arm. Centered beneath triple windows in the back wall, the sink divides the counter. Along the front wall is an excellent location for the breakfast nook with its overhead cupboards.

Next to the stove is the door to the laundry-utility room which is well-lighted by three windows in the side wall. A passageway in the front wall of this room provides access to the broom closet, the garage and the side door. Measuring 20' x 12', the garage has a large tool space at the side, while a side window provides plenty of light and ventilation.

In the full cement cellar the heating system should be placed beneath the living room; the rest of the area can be partitioned off to suit the owner's desires. Since laundry facilities are provided on the ground floor of the house, the builder could easily have full basement excavation under only the central portion of the house, if he so desires.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "the Columbus," or any other homes in this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y., and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Convector Radiators Suit Smaller Rooms

In furnishing small rooms, avoid the use of large, massive pieces of furniture which limit the available space for living and give the rooms a cramped, awkward appearance. Many of the newer pieces of furniture are designed especially for small rooms and should be selected with the size of the room in mind.

Permanent fixtures, such as heating units, also should be graceful and unobtrusive. In small homes heated with steam or hot water, convector radiators are effective. They are extremely compact, requiring little floor space, and they may be used either as free-standing units, flush against the walls, or as recessed units fitted snugly into the walls.

Walls of small rooms should be light in color, and plain. Dark colors tend to close in small rooms. By the same token, resist the temptation to use figured wallpapers. Mirrors help give an illusion of spaciousness to small rooms. Carpeting also helps, if it is plain and in light colors.

Forced Ventilation

Most basement recreation rooms cannot be well ventilated by natural means. Windows are necessarily high, and stale air, which is heavier than fresh air, falls to the floor and is trapped. A ventilating fan or some other form of forced draft should be installed in such rooms.

Watch for Mealy Bugs

Keep a close watch on house plants for pests, particularly the mealy bugs. This whitish, woolly appearing pest is a common nuisance, but it may be controlled by spraying with DDT or by dabbing each with alcohol.

Opera Hat to Speed Up Parliament Procedure

London, March 10 (AP)—Hatless members of Parliament won't have to run around trying to borrow a woman's blue velvet toque any more. An old opera hat has been given to the House of Commons to speed up procedure.

The rule in Commons is that no member can raise a point of order after a vote has been called except when seated with a hat on.

Many MP's don't wear hats. And they have been borrowing that of Miss Irene Ward, Conservative.

The thought of an MP in a woman's velvet toque so distressed Mrs. Florence Lucy of Hollingbourne, Kent, that she sent Prime Minister Attlee an opera hat which belonged to her late husband.

Attlee replied with a letter of thanks. He said the opera hat hereafter will handy by the speaker's chair—ready for any emergency.

Asks Wood Pulp Hike

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Government officials said yesterday Sweden has proposed a $100-a-ton increase in the price of wood pulp. Officials at the Office of Price Stabilization said they are "very concerned" that such an increase would boost paper prices. Sweden ships about 300,000 tons of wood pulp a year to the U. S. the OPS officials said, for use in making kraft and bond paper. They said one main type of pulp now sells at $187 a ton.

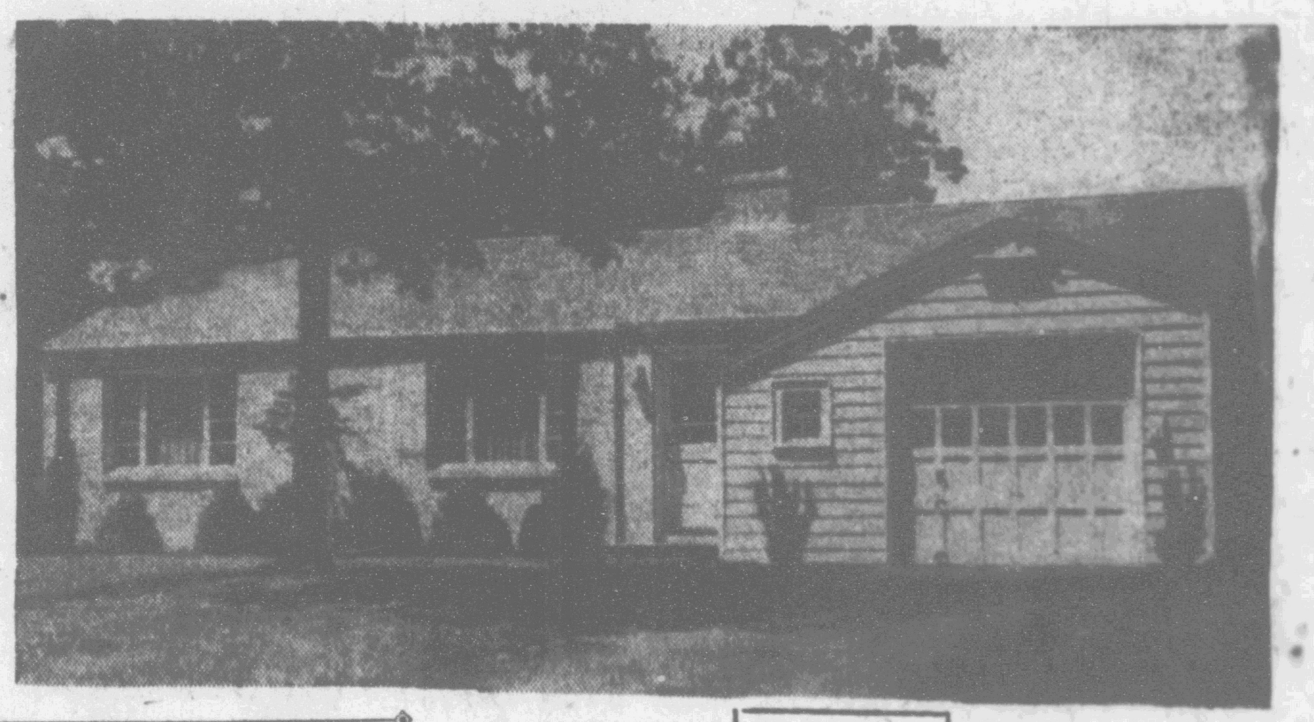
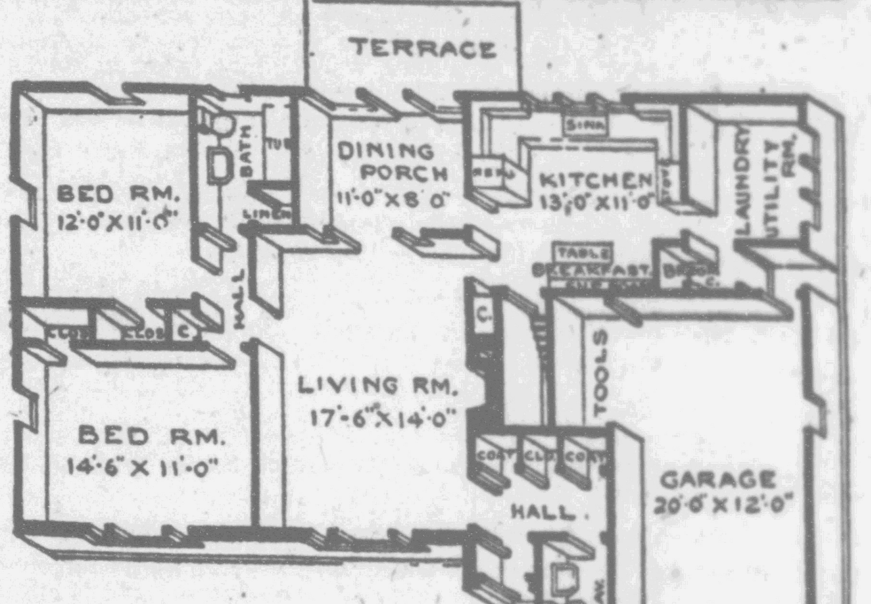
THE COLUMBUS





Simplicity Is Factor In Home Planning

Simplicity should be the governing factor in small-home planning, as excess maintenance costs caused by bad design add additional burdens.

This does not imply that the small house must be an unsightly box. Small homes can be built to afford adequate living accommodations at a minimum cost when poor-design factors are avoided.

Citing the pure simplicity of the Williamsburg and Cape Cod types, officials point to their straight-forward and honest design and lack of false fronts to detract from their inherent dignity and character.

Symmetry in architectural details should be subordinated to honesty in small-home architecture, as a desire for symmetry frequently results in complicated construction problems which add considerably to the total cost of the home.

Penetrating Sealer Best For a Much-Used Floor

Penetrating floor sealers are used frequently on floors where traffic is heavy. These finishes sink into the pores of the wood, leaving practically no surface film for wearing away. Worn spots are renewed by wiping on more of the material. These sealers are applied with a wide brush or with a special applicator, working across the grain and then smoothing out in the direction of the grain. Buffing with an electrical floor machine or with steel wool is recommended.

Invisible Balances

Home owners who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring completely enclosed in a spiraled tube operating with a brass bearing arm on the worm gear principle.

Basement Lavatory

A lavatory in the basement will prove a very practical and much-used utility. If you do not have one, you might like to put one in your home. It should be placed under a window so it will have adequate light, and should have a shelf above for soap, brushes, etc. The walls and door should be painted a bright, cheerful color in a good washable paint. It is a good idea to apply a ring of dark-colored paint around the door-knob so that soiled fingerprints will not show up as would be the case on the lighter paint.

Finish of Sponge Mottle

A sponge mottle finish is sometimes applied to wall surfaces where the surface is uneven or patched places show. It is also useful at times on enameled floors or linoleum where the muddy footprints of children and dogs are frequently a problem. It's applied by brushing out the color to be used in mottling on a board, and pressing a sponge against it. The sponge is then lightly pressed against the dry surface on which the mottling color is desired.

Metallic Paint

Steam and hot water radiators should be painted with oil pigment or enamel, never a metallic paint, say heating engineers who have found that a coating of metallic paint cuts down radiator heating efficiency as much as 15 per cent. Efficiency of radiators that have been treated with metallic paint can be improved by removing as much of the old paint as possible with a wire brush and a solvent and repainting with good quality oil paint.

Central Heating Plant

More than 40 per cent of the 8,000,000 homes surveyed by a governmental agency in 203 urban cities do not have central heating equipment. As many as 32 per cent of the dwelling units in the northeast section of the country and 40 per cent in the northwest are without central heating.

Another Well-Planned Modern Ranch House

Rooms	Five
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Nine
Cubage	28,000
Dimensions	50' x 27'

The long one-story building, the broken roof line, and the picture windows flanked by Hollywood casement windows, give a modern appearance to the house.

The dining porch, which can be closed in; the two textured sidewalls, the garage roof ridge at right angles to the main roof ridge, and the square windows in the lavette and garage door, also add to the modern appearance of "The Columbus."

Containing five rooms, including two bedrooms, "The Columbus" has nine closets. The house is 50' x 27' in dimensions and has a cubic footage of 28,000 feet. A 70' minimum lot is required but a larger plot should be used, if possible, in order to avoid a crowded appearance.

Over-all charms of the house are greatly enhanced by the combination cut stone and clapboard sidewalls. Because "The Columbus" is a one-story building, the man of the house can easily take care of painting and minor repair jobs; he'll also find it easy to install or take down storm windows and screens.

The projection made by the overhanging roof provides shelter for the modern glazed front door which opens into the entry hallway. Glass panels in the front door provide light for this hallway. There are three coat closets conveniently located at the end of this hallway. The lavette, also at the end of this hall, is handy for visitors who want to "freshen-up."

A modern flush mantel fireplace is located on the inside wall of the spacious living room which measures 17'6" x 14'. A door beyond the fireplace leads to the kitchen. Ample light and ventilation is provided by the picture window in the front wall. The dining porch is visible at the rear of the living room through French doors, flanked by glass blocks. If the porch is to be enclosed, however, an archway could be used to separate the two rooms.

Dining Porch

Measuring 11' x 8', the dining porch, if enclosed, should have a door leading to the terrace. Picture windows, flanking this door, would further enhance the appearance of the porch and permit you to more fully enjoy and utilize the view from this section of the house. The other door from the dining porch leads directly into the kitchen.

In the sidewall of the living room, opposite the fireplace, is a door opening on a short hallway that separates the sleeping quarters from the rest of the house. At the further end of this hall is the bathroom which contains a good sized linen closet. Next to the bathroom is the back bedroom which is 12' x 11' in dimensions. The master bedroom, 14' 6" x 11', is located at the front of the house.

Boasting a large picture window, flanked by casement windows, the master bedroom is an exceptionally lovely room. Another window, in the side wall provides additional light and good cross ventilation. There is ample wall space for arranging large furniture pieces and the room contains a large closet on the inside wall.

Another closet is conveniently placed in the hall just outside the bedroom door.

Two windows in the back bedroom provide light and cross ventilation. Located in the center of the front inside wall, the closet in this room is in line with the hall master bedroom closets.

The kitchen and laundry utility room are located on the other side of the house. A closet back to the fireplace, is next to the door to the living room; the cellar stairs are just beyond.

U-Shaped Kitchen

There is a U-shaped counter in the 13' x 11' kitchen with the refrigerator located at one end of the counter, near the dining room door. The stove is at the other end of the arm. Centered beneath triple windows in the back wall, the sink divides the counter. Along the front wall is an excellent location for the breakfast nook with its overhead cupboards.

Next to the stove is the door to the laundry-utility room which is well-lighted by three windows in the side wall. A passageway in the front wall of this room provides access to the broom closet, the garage and the side door. Measuring 20' x 12', the garage has a large tool space at the side, while a side window provides plenty of light and ventilation.

In the full cement cellar the heating system should be placed beneath the living room; the rest of the area can be partitioned off to suit the owner's desires. Since laundry facilities are provided on the ground floor of the house, the builder could easily have full basement excavation under only the central portion of the house, if he so desires.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "the Columbus," or any other homes in this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y., and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Convector Radiators Suit Smaller Rooms

In furnishing small rooms, avoid the use of large, massive pieces of furniture which limit the available space for living and give the rooms a cramped, awkward appearance. Many of the newer pieces of furniture are designed especially for small rooms and should be selected with the size of the room in mind.

Permanent fixtures, such as heating units, also should be graceful and unobtrusive. In small homes heated with steam or hot water, convector radiators are effective. They are extremely compact, requiring little floor space, and they may be used either as free-standing units, flush against the walls, or as recessed units fitted snugly into the walls.

Walls of small rooms should be light in color, and plain. Dark colors tend to close in small rooms. By the same token, resist the temptation to use figured wallpapers. Mirrors help give an illusion of spaciousness to small rooms. Carpeting also helps, if it is plain and in light colors.

Forced Ventilation

Most basement recreation rooms cannot be well ventilated by natural means. Windows are necessarily high, and stale air, which is heavier than fresh air, falls to the floor and is trapped. A ventilating fan or some other form of forced draft should be installed in such rooms.

Watch for Mealy Bugs

Keep a close watch on house plants for pests, particularly the mealy bugs. This whitish, woolly appearing pest is a common nuisance, but it may be controlled by spraying with DDT or by dabbing each with alcohol.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 10, 1951

YELLOW MARGARINE

The Senate Finance Committee has reported an amended bill authorizing the sale of yellow margarine but providing stringent safeguards against fraud. This marks the first time the pro-margarine bill ever has been reported in New York State.

Considering that attempted repealers have never got out of committee in the past, it would seem that at long last that prospects for the consumer are bright.

Connecticut is the latest state to permit the sale of colored margarine. Thursday the Connecticut State Senate, concurring with the House, approved the bill. The vote was unanimous.

The original bill called for a two-cent tax per pound on the product. This would have been a penalty on one competitor against the other.

The amended bill provides for a ten dollar license fee on restaurants serving the product, prohibition of sale to restaurants unless they have such licenses and the reporting of all sales to restaurants.

For every pound of butter produced in New York State and sold in this state, there are nineteen pounds of butter imported from other states. The sale of colored margarine could not possibly wipe out the New York farmer's market.

The lawmakers at Albany should see to it that the bill is passed at this session.

LEAVING FOR THE MOON

Arthur V. St. Germain, if his plans work out, may soon be looking for an adventuresome companion. He says that he has completed plans for a rocket twenty-seven stories high which would be able to carry two men to the moon and back. The trip back, of course, is the important thing. The rocket would weigh 180 tons, and travel 25,000 miles an hour. It would complete the journey in something under ten days.

The catch is that only the plans have been drawn. Presumably the money is yet to be found for the construction. As St. Germain is senior test engineer for the Fairchild Guided Missiles Division at the Navy test center at Point Mugu, Calif., he should know whether his conception is feasible. If he can persuade others that it is, there should be no great difficulty about getting the money.

Of course the Navy may decide that it would rather use St. Germain's missile for military purposes than in a journey to the moon. But if it takes the longer-range viewpoint, there may be some interesting reading about the moon in the newspapers one of these days.

Possibly forty per cent of the cost of building a home could be eliminated by cutting out waste, a trade journal reports. Now all we need is some way to accomplish it.

New York City has more inhabitants than each of forty-one nations, and just about as many less parking spaces.

With all the exercise which is credited to golf it might be questioned why the ball is needed at all. Players have moments of wondering.

SAFE PLACE IN BOMBING

The safest place if the bombs should begin to fall could be Manhattan Island. This opinion comes from Robert W. Dowling, civilian defense chairman for that part of New York City, who is starting to pick his helpers. He is thinking of the experience of Hiroshima and of the great raids in Britain. Concrete and steel buildings of the type of New York's skyscrapers held up better than anything else. The chief peril among them is not destruction of edifices, but panic.

According to that, if there should be a war, everyone should move to New York City. Of course that would create even worse problems, including that of panic, and panicky citizens should think about these ahead of time.

In almost any disaster it is true that panic is the peril most to be feared. It is also the hardest thing to prevent unless there has been advance preparation. Let the community make the advance preparations appropriate to the situation; public confidence in the preparations will greatly reduce the likelihood of panic.

THE GROUND FORCE DEBATE

General George Marshall said in the hearings before Congress:

"As General Eisenhower pointed out in his recent testimony here, the United States forces will constitute only a minor portion of these proposed integrated forces—the major portion being furnished by the western European nations. This is particularly true in the matter of ground forces. . ."

Then he added:

"To be specific, the joint chiefs of staff have recommended to me, and I have so recommended to the President—and the President has approved—a policy with respect to our forces in Europe which looks to the maintenance by us, in Europe, of approximately six divisions of ground forces."

Roughly this involves about 120,000 men and women. We now have about 250,000 men in Korea. The United States already has two divisions in Europe, with four more to go. If the western Europeans do not supply an adequate force, is it believable that western Europe can be defended with fewer men than we are now using in Korea?

General Marshall further said:

". . . In the key position to which he has been named at the request of the nations which make up the North Atlantic treaty organization, General Eisenhower will be in a position to insist that all members of the North Atlantic treaty play their full parts in this vital undertaking."

Nowhere is it stated how General Eisenhower will "be in a position to insist." In fact, the terms of General Eisenhower's employment are not stipulated. Is he employed by the United States? Is he employed by the council set up by the North Atlantic alliance? Who pays his salary and expenses? Does he take his orders from the Department of Defense of the United States or from the North Atlantic Council?

General Marshall said:

"Proportionately, the American contribution will be greater in air and in naval forces than in ground forces, for the greater strength of the United States is in the air and on the sea. Proportionately also, our contribution will be greater in the production of munitions, than in the provision of manpower—for the industrial capacity of the United States is the greatest of any of the member nations of the North Atlantic treaty."

This is in complete agreement with Herbert Hoover, but what is the proportion? If the United States is to provide six divisions of ground troops, how many divisions are to be provided by Great Britain, France and other powers? This we are not told.

General Marshall insists that these six divisions are principally for morale purposes—that is, to give the Europeans the climate of "Lafayette, we are here!" So this colloquy occurred between Senator Russell and General Marshall:

"Senator Russell: . . . Do you think that the sending of as many as six divisions to Europe will establish the morale and the will to fight that is essential for the defense of western Europe in case of attack?

"Secretary Marshall: . . . It (six divisions) is a keystone, a very essential unit there, but it is significant of our purpose, our intentions, of our will to do what we properly can for strengthening the defense of western Europe against a possible attack, and to deter that attack."

Then Senator Russell asked: "You do not, then, think it is a hopeless task to defend western Europe from aggression?"

"Secretary Marshall: No, sir, I do not. . . ."

The colloquy between Senator Russell and General Marshall finally landed into a morass, for it seems that General Marshall wants us to have ground troops in Europe to defend the United States, but he did not say how having ground troops in Europe would safeguard the United States from being bombed in global war perhaps from a base, say, at Narvik.

The gist of it all is in this colloquy:

"Senator Byrd: I have been told by a very high military authority that there would be a minimum of two to three million trained troops that would be necessary to be effective in resistance of Russia. I am not speaking of our troops but the combined forces.

"Secretary Marshall: I would say to that that you would have to have so many qualifications as to time and other factors that it would be a highly hypothetical question. We have no plans for additional units at the present time."

This is an astonishingly confused business as I read the myriad pages of testimony. The record does not make it crystal clear why we are sending ground troops to Europe except for morale—which is an undefinable term for uncertain purposes.

That Body of Yours

TREATING VARICOSE ULCER

A middle-aged overweight man was undergoing examination by his physician. The physician pointed out the varicose veins in his legs.

"Shall I rest my legs more?" asked the patient.

"No," said the physician, "every step you take actually helps to pump the blood upwards toward the heart. Varicose veins in the legs show that the lining of the veins in the legs have been damaged by infection from time to time and affected their valves so that blood flows back down the veins instead of being held up by the valves. However, if after taking a walk or being on your feet for some time, you sit down and put your legs up on a chair, you will help the flow of blood upward. You have what is called lower leg stasis" (stoppage or slowing of the blood in the veins).

What can be done when the big muscle in lower leg, the calf, fails to pump the blood upward and varicose veins and varicose ulcers occur in the popliteal vein just above the calf at space back of knee?

In The British Medical Journal, Dr. G. Bauer reports performing 245 popliteal divisions on patients with non-specific (not due to disease) ulcers of the lower leg associated with chronic swelling, hardened skin changes, and pain due to lower-leg stasis. Because man is on his feet so much, there may be an overloading of blood in the lower parts of the leg. This superfluous blood is usually removed by the contractions of the calf muscle which act as a "heart" in pumping blood upward in healthy persons. Because the valves in these large veins in those with lower-leg stasis have been developed, the calf muscles cannot push blood upward and it flows back, causing varicose veins and then ulcers.

By dividing the vein (popliteal) lying in hollow of the knee, the calf muscles drive the blood through fine or small channels into the muscle veins of the thigh and no back flow can occur. The operation of dividing this popliteal vein seems to be entirely free from risk. There were no deaths or complications in the 245 patients who underwent operation by Dr. Bauer.

Follow-up examinations of 196 patients after six months to three years showed that the ulcers of 165 (84 per cent) remained healed and the patients did not present any symptoms of stasis—pain and swelling. There were 31 patients in which a return of stasis occurred after shorter or longer periods.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note: Drew Pearson is on a flying tour of Europe and the Middle East, surveying the world situation.)

Belgrade—You can't escape the fact that our new-found friendship with Jugoslavia is nothing less than a marriage of convenience with a communistic state. For communism, though somewhat relaxed under Tito recently, is still going full blast. In fact, Tito to some extent is a prisoner of communism since, in order to please the radical wing of his party, he has to show he's more of a Communist than Stalin.

Therefore, the present Jugoslav government line is that Stalin uses communism merely as a cloak for imperialism and that communism of the Jugoslab brand is pure and unadulterated. What most people outside this country fail to realize is that the hard core of the Jugoslav government was trained either in Moscow or in Serbian jails during the Fascist regime of King Alexander and that they will support Tito only as long as he retains a theoretic communism.

This puts the capitalistic United States in a more paradoxical situation than anywhere else in the world. For, while Jugoslavia is a communistic state, it remains simultaneously the greatest thorn in Stalin's side because it demonstrates to the Red satellites that it is possible to thumb a nose at the almighty Kremlin and get away with it.

Furthermore, if the United States did not support Jugoslavia Tito unquestionably would fall and, if he fell, this country unquestionably also would go back to Stalin.

Thus we find ourselves in the position of inferentially supporting communism yet opposing Stalinism, Stalinism being Russia's aggressive demand that the rest of the world come under its rule by force. So far, the United States government has justified its Jugoslav marriage of convenience just as it has its dealings with dictator nations of Latin America on the ground that every nation has the right to choose its own form of government so long as it does not try to foist its rule on others.

Here is how communism works in Jugoslavia today—All stores are owned by the government through many store owners are kept as their managers. Every business establishment, including any barbershop using more than three barbers, is operated by the government. The stores are modern and have good-looking goods, but the prices are terrific. Jugoslavia today is the most expensive country in the world outside Russia. . . . Some party members were formerly able to buy at special discounts but this practice raised such resentment that the system was abolished. . . . Dinner in ordinary restaurants costs almost as much as dinner at the Waldorf and it's difficult to see how the average worker lives. Most of them do so by eating at government canteens, which is considerably cheaper though the food is not good. . . . Ration cards enable them to purchase food at low prices but food has been so scarce that the government has not been able to fulfill the amount of food each worker is supposed to get on his ration card. This is where American food has been so important to Tito at this particular time. . . . Foreigners in Jugoslavia are given special tourist dinars which give them a 70 per cent discount at all hotels and restaurants. Without this discount it would be impossible for tourist travel through Jugoslavia.

Jugoslav Economic Conditions are somewhat worse than in the Red satellite countries—even than in Bulgaria, which also suffered from the 1950 drought. This is not due to Communistic farm collectivization so much as to the Jugoslav ambition to build factories in a hurry, which caused them to siphon too much money out of agriculture and into industrial materials . . . . while the drought caused a severe crop shortage some shortage undoubtedly was due also to peasant resentment against the quota system by which he is required to produce certain quotas for the government. Last week this quota system was largely relaxed—another important step in the gradual easing off of strict Communism . . . . before it was relaxed, however, about 11,000 Serbian peasants went to jail, partly for failing to fill farm quotas and partly for refusing to join the farm collectives . . . . so far, about 19 per cent of the farm collectivized with the greatest success are in Montenegro and Macedonia, where the farmers had little to start with. As usually happens those with the least to lose became Communists more easily, while the wealthier Serbian peasants, who have fought for their land since the days of the Turks, went to jail rather than be collectivized.

Communism Relaxing—Various signs point to a gradual relaxation of strict communism. In addition to the easing of farm quotas, more and more people are flocking back to the churches. . . . Americans appear popular everywhere—perhaps more so than in western Europe, certainly more so than in France and England. . . . The Jugoslav press now prints full and free accounts of foreign news and there is no censorship of foreign newsmen whatsoever. Domestic news, however, still follows the party line. . . . Begging is now almost nonexistent in Jugoslavia whereas, 30 years ago, when I was last here, beggars were everywhere. Tipping has also been abolished, though not entirely lived up to. Thievery, which some years ago was the greatest curse of the country, now sooms to have disappeared. When I was here after World War I it was necessary to have a gendarme stand guard over one's baggage and then, sometimes, it was necessary to watch the gendarme. . . . Hitherto Tito has held a tight, virtually a dictatorial, rein over Parliament, but a few days ago a Parliament took at least one democratic belt over the traces against him. He had introduced a criminal code which provided imprisonment for any woman submitting to abortion. However, Parliament refused to approve this part of the law and finally decreed that only the doctor who performed an abortion, not the woman who submitted to it, would be guilty of crime. This is a small straw in the wind but it may indicate gradual restoration of democratic processes in Jugoslavia.

Optimism Is Good If It Isn't Overdone

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

It is a good idea to play a hand optimistically when there is no other way to make the contract. It is a mistake, however, to play more optimistically than you need to.

In a recent team match in England, the hand shown today was played overoptimistically in the first room. Declarer won the opening club lead with the ace and immediately went after the hearts. He was correct in assuming that one of the red suits had to be developed for the game contract. He would have been successful if the hearts had broken 3-3, but the actual 4-2 break defeated him. The defenders managed to win three heart tricks and two clubs.

In the second room declarer was optimistic enough to hope that one of the red suits could be set up. However, he properly went after the diamonds instead of the hearts.

The first trick was won in dummy with the king of clubs, whereupon the ace of diamonds was cashed. At trick three the low diamond was led from dummy, and East made the excellent play of the eight.

South would have lost his contract if he had finessed the nine, but he was astute enough to put up his jack of diamonds, winning the trick. He knew that any play would succeed if the diamonds were 3-3. His only other chance was to catch the doubleton ten of diamonds. He was rewarded when his jack of diamonds dropped on West's ten.

It was now easy for South to knock the queen of diamonds, win the club return with the ace, and knock out the king od diamonds. The defenders could take two clubs and two diamonds but South was bound to get in with the king of spades to run his last diamond and the rest of the tricks.

Parolee Killed

New York, March 10 (AP)—A Sing Sing parolee was killed by police last night, authorities said, after he brandished a realistic toy revolver. The ex-convict, Louis Antonacci, of Brooklyn, was being pursued by police after he allegedly held up a Manhattan delicatessen and then a liquor store. Police said they chased him to the 13th story of an East Side building, where they yelled for him to put up his hands. But instead, police said, Antonacci yelled: "I'm just out of Sing Sing and I'll kill you." As he raised the toy gun, police said they thought it was a real weapon and opened fire.

Search Continues

New York, March 10 (AP)—The coast guard will continue its sea and air search today for 16-year-old Donald Bartlett, missing since yesterday afternoon when he took a ten-foot motorboat for a cruise off Long Island. Bartlett lives at 30 Fourteenth Road, Broad Channel, Queens. His mother, Mrs. Florence Bartlett, said her son was an experienced small-boat operator but that he had complained of not feeling well before he left home yesterday.

YELLOW MARGARINE

The Senate Finance Committee has reported an amended bill authorizing the sale of yellow margarine but providing stringent safeguards against fraud. This marks the first time the pro-margarine bill ever has been reported in New York State.

Considering that attempted repealers have never got out of committee in the past, it would seem that at long last that prospects for the consumer are bright.

Connecticut is the latest state to permit the sale of colored margarine. Thursday the Connecticut State Senate, concurring with the House, approved the bill. The vote was unanimous.

The original bill called for a two-cent tax per pound on the product. This would have been a penalty on one competitor against the other.

The amended bill provides for a ten dollar license fee on restaurants serving the product, prohibition of sale to restaurants unless they have such licenses and the reporting of all sales to restaurants.

For every pound of butter produced in New York State and sold in this state, there are nineteen pounds of butter imported from other states. The sale of colored margarine could not possibly wipe out the New York farmer's market.

The lawmakers at Albany should see to it that the bill is passed at this session.

LEAVING FOR THE MOON

Arthur V. St. Germain, if his plans work out, may soon be looking for an adventuresome companion. He says that he has completed plans for a rocket twenty-seven stories high which would be able to carry two men to the moon and back. The trip back, of course, is the important thing. The rocket would weigh 180 tons, and travel 25,000 miles an hour. It would complete the journey in something under ten days.

The catch is that only the plans have been drawn. Presumably the money is yet to be found for the construction. As St. Germain is senior test engineer for the Fairchild Guided Missiles Division at the Navy test center at Point Mugu, Calif., he should know whether his conception is feasible. If he can persuade others that it is, there should be no great difficulty about getting the money.

Of course the Navy may decide that it would rather use St. Germain's missile for military purposes than in a journey to the moon. But if it takes the longer-range viewpoint, there may be some interesting reading about the moon in the newspapers one of these days.

Possibly forty per cent of the cost of building a home could be eliminated by cutting out waste, a trade journal reports. Now all we need is some way to accomplish it.

New York City has more inhabitants than each of forty-one nations, and just about as many less parking spaces.

With all the exercise which is credited to golf it might be questioned why the ball is needed at all. Players have moments of wondering.

SAFE PLACE IN BOMBING

The safest place if the bombs should begin to fall could be Manhattan Island. This opinion comes from Robert W. Dowling, civilian defense chairman for that part of New York City, who is starting to pick his helpers. He is thinking of the experience of Hiroshima and of the great raids in Britain. Concrete and steel buildings of the type of New York's skyscrapers held up better than anything else. The chief peril among them is not destruction of edifices, but panic.

According to that, if there should be a war, everyone should move to New York City. Of course that would create even worse problems, including that of panic, and panicky citizens should think about these ahead of time.

In almost any disaster it is true that panic is the peril most to be feared. It is also the hardest thing to prevent unless there has been advance preparation. Let the community make the advance preparations appropriate to the situation; public confidence in the preparations will greatly reduce the likelihood of panic.

THE GROUND FORCE DEBATE

General George Marshall said in the hearings before Congress:

"As General Eisenhower pointed out in his recent testimony here, the United States forces will constitute only a minor portion of these proposed integrated forces—the major portion being furnished by the western European nations. This is particularly true in the matter of ground forces. . ."

Then he added:

"To be specific, the joint chiefs of staff have recommended to me, and I have so recommended to the President—and the President has approved—a policy with respect to our forces in Europe which looks to the maintenance by us, in Europe, of approximately six divisions of ground forces."

Roughly this involves about 120,000 men and women. We now have about 250,000 men in Korea. The United States already has two divisions in Europe, with four more to go. If the western Europeans do not supply an adequate force, is it believable that western Europe can be defended with fewer men than we are now using in Korea?

General Marshall further said:

". . . In the key position to which he has been named at the request of the nations which make up the North Atlantic treaty organization, General Eisenhower will be in a position to insist that all members of the North Atlantic treaty play their full parts in this vital undertaking."

Nowhere is it stated how General Eisenhower will "be in a position to insist." In fact, the terms of General Eisenhower's employment are not stipulated. Is he employed by the United States? Is he employed by the council set up by the North Atlantic alliance? Who pays his salary and expenses? Does he take his orders from the Department of Defense of the United States or from the North Atlantic Council?

General Marshall said:

"Proportionately, the American contribution will be greater in air and in naval forces than in ground forces, for the greater strength of the United States is in the air and on the sea. Proportionately also, our contribution will be greater in the production of munitions, than in the provision of manpower—for the industrial capacity of the United States is the greatest of any of the member nations of the North Atlantic treaty."

This is in complete agreement with Herbert Hoover, but what is the proportion? If the United States is to provide six divisions of ground troops, how many divisions are to be provided by Great Britain, France and other powers? This we are not told.

General Marshall insists that these six divisions are principally for morale purposes—that is, to give the Europeans the climate of "Lafayette, we are here!" So this colloquy occurred between Senator Russell and General Marshall:

"Senator Russell: . . . Do you think that the sending of as many as six divisions to Europe will establish the morale and the will to fight that is essential for the defense of western Europe in case of attack?

"Secretary Marshall: . . . It (six divisions) is a keystone, a very essential unit there, but it is significant of our purpose, our intentions, of our will to do what we properly can for strengthening the defense of western Europe against a possible attack, and to deter that attack."

Then Senator Russell asked: "You do not, then, think it is a hopeless task to defend western Europe from aggression?"

"Secretary Marshall: No, sir, I do not. . . ."

The colloquy between Senator Russell and General Marshall finally landed into a morass, for it seems that General Marshall wants us to have ground troops in Europe to defend the United States, but he did not say how having ground troops in Europe would safeguard the United States from being bombed in global war perhaps from a base, say, at Narvik.

The gist of it all is in this colloquy:

"Senator Byrd: I have been told by a very high military authority that there would be a minimum of two to three million trained troops that would be necessary to be effective in resistance of Russia. I am not speaking of our troops but the combined forces.

"Secretary Marshall: I would say to that that you would have to have so many qualifications as to time and other factors that it would be a highly hypothetical question. We have no plans for additional units at the present time."

This is an astonishingly confused business as I read the myriad pages of testimony. The record does not make it crystal clear why we are sending ground troops to Europe except for morale—which is an undefinable term for uncertain purposes.

That Body of Yours

TREATING VARICOSE ULCER

A middle-aged overweight man was undergoing examination by his physician. The physician pointed out the varicose veins in his legs.

"Shall I rest my legs more?" asked the patient.

"No," said the physician, "every step you take actually helps to pump the blood upwards toward the heart. Varicose veins in the legs show that the lining of the veins in the legs have been damaged by infection from time to time and affected their valves so that blood flows back down the veins instead of being held up by the valves. However, if after taking a walk or being on your feet for some time, you sit down and put your legs up on a chair, you will help the flow of blood upward. You have what is called lower leg stasis" (stoppage or slowing of the blood in the veins).

What can be done when the big muscle in lower leg, the calf, fails to pump the blood upward and varicose veins and varicose ulcers occur in the popliteal vein just above the calf at space back of knee?

In The British Medical Journal, Dr. G. Bauer reports performing 245 popliteal divisions on patients with non-specific (not due to disease) ulcers of the lower leg associated with chronic swelling, hardened skin changes, and pain due to lower-leg stasis. Because man is on his feet so much, there may be an overloading of blood in the lower parts of the leg. This superfluous blood is usually removed by the contractions of the calf muscle which act as a "heart" in pumping blood upward in healthy persons. Because the valves in these large veins in those with lower-leg stasis have been developed, the calf muscles cannot push blood upward and it flows back, causing varicose veins and then ulcers.

By dividing the vein (popliteal) lying in hollow of the knee, the calf muscles drive the blood through fine or small channels into the muscle veins of the thigh and, no back flow can occur. The operation of dividing this popliteal vein seems to be entirely free from risk. There were no deaths or complications in the 245 patients who underwent operation by Dr. Bauer.

Follow-up examinations of 196 patients after six months to three years showed that the ulcers of 165 (84 per cent) remained healed and the patients did not present any symptoms of stasis—pain and swelling. There were 31 patients in which a return of stasis occurred after shorter or longer periods.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note: Drew Pearson is on a flying tour of Europe and the Middle East, surveying the world situation.)

Belgrade—You can't escape the fact that our new-found friendship with Jugoslavia is nothing less than a marriage of convenience with a communistic state. For communism, though somewhat relaxed under Tito recently, is still going full blast. In fact, Tito to some extent is a prisoner of communism since, in order to please the radical wing of his party, he has to show he's more of a Communist than Stalin.

Therefore, the present Jugoslav government line is that Stalin uses communism merely as a cloak for imperialism and that communism of the Jugoslab brand is pure and unadulterated. What most people outside this country fail to realize is that the hard core of the Jugoslav government was trained either in Moscow or in Serbian jails during the Fascist regime of King Alexander and that they will support Tito only as long as he retains a theoretic communism.

This puts the capitalistic United States in a more paradoxical situation than anywhere else in the world. For, while Jugoslavia is a communistic state, it remains simultaneously the greatest thorn in Stalin's side because it demonstrates to the Red satellites that it is possible to thumb a nose at the almighty Kremlin and get away with it.

Furthermore, if the United States did not support Jugoslavia Tito unquestionably would fall and, if he fell, this country unquestionably also would go back to Stalin.

Thus we find ourselves in the position of inferentially supporting communism yet opposing Stalinism, Stalinism being Russia's aggressive demand that the rest of the world come under its rule by force. So far, the United States government has justified its Jugoslav marriage of convenience just as it has its dealings with dictator nations of Latin America on the ground that every nation has the right to choose its own form of government so long as it does not try to foist its rule on others.

Here is how communism works in Jugoslavia today—All stores are owned by the government through many store owners are kept as their managers. Every business establishment, including any barbershop using more than three barbers, is operated by the government. The stores are modern and have good-looking goods, but the prices are terrific. Jugoslavia today is the most expensive country in the world outside Russia. . . . Some party members were formerly able to buy at special discounts but this practice raised such resentment that the system was abolished. . . . Dinner in ordinary restaurants costs almost as much as dinner at the Waldorf and it's difficult to see how the average worker lives. Most of them do so by eating at government canteens, which is considerably cheaper though the food is not good. . . . Ration cards enable them to purchase food at low prices but food has been so scarce that the government has not been able to fulfill the amount of food each worker is supposed to get on his ration card. This is where American food has been so important to Tito at this particular time. . . . Foreigners in Jugoslavia are given special tourist dinars which give them a 70 per cent discount at all hotels and restaurants. Without this discount it would be impossible for tourist travel through Jugoslavia.

Jugoslav Economic Conditions are somewhat worse than in the Red satellite countries—even than in Bulgaria, which also suffered from the 1950 drought. This is not due to Communistic farm collectivization so much as to the Jugoslav ambition to build factories in a hurry, which caused them to siphon too much money out of agriculture and into industrial materials . . . . while the drought caused a severe crop shortage some shortage undoubtedly was due also to peasant resentment against the quota system by which he is required to produce certain quotas for the government. Last week this quota system was largely relaxed—another important step in the gradual easing off of strict Communism . . . . before it was relaxed, however, about 11,000 Serbian peasants went to jail, partly for failing to fill farm quotas and partly for refusing to join the farm collectives . . . . so far, about 19 per cent of the farm collectivized with the greatest success are in Montenegro and Macedonia, where the farmers had little to start with. As usually happens those with the least to lose became Communists more easily, while the wealthier Serbian peasants, who have fought for their land since the days of the Turks, went to jail rather than be collectivized.

Communism Relaxing—Various signs point to a gradual relaxation of strict communism. In addition to the easing of farm quotas, more and more people are flocking back to the churches. . . . Americans appear popular everywhere—perhaps more so than in western Europe, certainly more so than in France and England. . . . The Jugoslav press now prints full and free accounts of foreign news and there is no censorship of foreign newsmen whatsoever. Domestic news, however, still follows the party line. . . . Begging is now almost nonexistent in Jugoslavia whereas, 30 years ago, when I was last here, beggars were everywhere. Tipping has also been abolished, though not entirely lived up to. Thievery, which some years ago was the greatest curse of the country, now sooms to have disappeared. When I was here after World War I it was necessary to have a gendarme stand guard over one's baggage and then, sometimes, it was necessary to watch the gendarme. . . . Hitherto Tito has held a tight, virtually a dictatorial, rein over Parliament, but a few days ago a Parliament took at least one democratic belt over the traces against him. He had introduced a criminal code which provided imprisonment for any woman submitting to abortion. However, Parliament refused to approve this part of the law and finally decreed that only the doctor who performed an abortion, not the woman who submitted to it, would be guilty of crime. This is a small straw in the wind but it may indicate gradual restoration of democratic processes in Jugoslavia.

Optimism Is Good If It Isn't Overdone

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

It is a good idea to play a hand optimistically when there is no other way to make the contract. It is a mistake, however, to play more optimistically than you need to.

In a recent team match in England, the hand shown today was played overoptimistically in the first room. Declarer won the opening club lead with the ace and immediately went after the hearts. He was correct in assuming that one of the red suits had to be developed for the game contract. He would have been successful if the hearts had broken 3-3, but the actual 4-2 break defeated him. The defenders managed to win three heart tricks and two clubs.

In the second room declarer was optimistic enough to hope that one of the red suits could be set up. However, he properly went after the diamonds instead of the hearts.

The first trick was won in dummy with the king of clubs, whereupon the ace of diamonds was cashed. At trick three the low diamond was led from dummy, and East made the excellent play of the eight.

South would have lost his contract if he had finessed the nine, but he was astute enough to put up his jack of diamonds, winning the trick. He knew that any play would succeed if the diamonds were 3-3. His only other chance was to catch the doubleton ten of diamonds. He was rewarded when his jack of diamonds dropped on West's ten.

It was now easy for South to knock the queen of diamonds, win the club return with the ace, and knock out the king od diamonds. The defenders could take two clubs and two diamonds but South was bound to get in with the king of spades to run his last diamond and the rest of the tricks.

Parolee Killed

New York, March 10 (AP)—A Sing Sing parolee was killed by police last night, authorities said, after he brandished a realistic toy revolver. The ex-convict, Louis Antonacci, of Brooklyn, was being pursued by police after he allegedly held up a Manhattan delicatessen and then a liquor store. Police said they chased him to the 13th story of an East Side building, where they yelled for him to put up his hands. But instead, police said, Antonacci yelled: "I'm just out of Sing Sing and I'll kill you." As he raised the toy gun, police said they thought it was a real weapon and opened fire.

His mother, Mrs. Florence Bartlett, said her son was an experienced small-boat operator but that he had complained of not feeling well before he left home yesterday.

YELLOW MARGARINE

The Senate Finance Committee has reported an amended bill authorizing the sale of yellow margarine but providing stringent safeguards against fraud. This marks the first time the pro-margarine bill ever has been reported in New York State.

Considering that attempted repealers have never got out of committee in the past, it would seem that at long last that prospects for the consumer are bright.

Connecticut is the latest state to permit the sale of colored margarine. Thursday the Connecticut State Senate, concurring with the House, approved the bill. The vote was unanimous.

The original bill called for a two-cent tax per pound on the product. This would have been a penalty on one competitor against the other.

The amended bill provides for a ten dollar license fee on restaurants serving the product, prohibition of sale to restaurants unless they have such licenses and the reporting of all sales to restaurants.

For every pound of butter produced in New York State and sold in this state, there are nineteen pounds of butter imported from other states. The sale of colored margarine could not possibly wipe out the New York farmer's market.

The lawmakers at Albany should see to it that the bill is passed at this session.

LEAVING FOR THE MOON

Arthur V. St. Germain, if his plans work out, may soon be looking for an adventuresome companion. He says that he has completed plans for a rocket twenty-seven stories high which would be able to carry two men to the moon and back. The trip back, of course, is the important thing. The rocket would weigh 180 tons, and travel 25,000 miles an hour. It would complete the journey in something under ten days.

The catch is that only the plans have been drawn. Presumably the money is yet to be found for the construction. As St. Germain is senior test engineer for the Fairchild Guided Missiles Division at the Navy test center at Point Mugu, Calif., he should know whether his conception is feasible. If he can persuade others that it is, there should be no great difficulty about getting the money.

Of course the Navy may decide that it would rather use St. Germain's missile for military purposes than in a journey to the moon. But if it takes the longer-range viewpoint, there may be some interesting reading about the moon in the newspapers one of these days.

Possibly forty per cent of the cost of building a home could be eliminated by cutting out waste, a trade journal reports. Now all we need is some way to accomplish it.

New York City has more inhabitants than each of forty-one nations, and just about as many less parking spaces.

With all the exercise which is credited to golf it might be questioned why the ball is needed at all. Players have moments of wondering.

SAFE PLACE IN BOMBING

The safest place if the bombs should begin to fall could be Manhattan Island. This opinion comes from Robert W. Dowling, civilian defense chairman for that part of New York City, who is starting to pick his helpers. He is thinking of the experience of Hiroshima and of the great raids in Britain. Concrete and steel buildings of the type of New York's skyscrapers held up better than anything else. The chief peril among them is not destruction of edifices, but panic.

According to that, if there should be a war, everyone should move to New York City. Of course that would create even worse problems, including that of panic, and panicky citizens should think about these ahead of time.

In almost any disaster it is true that panic is the peril most to be feared. It is also the hardest thing to prevent unless there has been advance preparation. Let the community make the advance preparations appropriate to the situation; public confidence in the preparations will greatly reduce the likelihood of panic.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE GROUND FORCE DEBATE

General George Marshall said in the hearings before Congress:

"As General Eisenhower pointed out in his recent testimony here, the United States forces will constitute only a minor portion of these proposed integrated forces—the major portion being furnished by the western European nations. This is particularly true in the matter of ground forces. . ."

Then he added:

"To be specific, the joint chiefs of staff have recommended to me, and I have so recommended to the President—and the President has approved—a policy with respect to our forces in Europe which looks to the maintenance by us, in Europe, of approximately six divisions of ground forces."

Roughly this involves about 120,000 men and women. We now have about 250,000 men in Korea. The United States already has two divisions in Europe, with four more to go. If the western Europeans do not supply an adequate force, is it believable that western Europe can be defended with fewer men than we are now using in Korea?

General Marshall further said:

". . . In the key position to which he has been named at the request of the nations which make up the North Atlantic treaty organization, General Eisenhower will be in a position to insist that all members of the North Atlantic treaty play their full parts in this vital undertaking."

Nowhere is it stated how General Eisenhower will "be in a position to insist." In fact, the terms of General Eisenhower's employment are not stipulated. Is he employed by the United States? Is he employed by the council set up by the North Atlantic alliance? Who pays his salary and expenses? Does he take his orders from the Department of Defense of the United States or from the North Atlantic Council?

General Marshall said:

"Proportionately, the American contribution will be greater in air and in naval forces than in ground forces, for the greater strength of the United States is in the air and on the sea. Proportionately also, our contribution will be greater in the production of munitions, than in the provision of manpower—for the industrial capacity of the United States is the greatest of any of the member nations of the North Atlantic treaty."

This is in complete agreement with Herbert Hoover, but what is the proportion? If the United States is to provide six divisions of ground troops, how many divisions are to be provided by Great Britain, France and other powers? This we are not told.

General Marshall insists that these six divisions are principally for morale purposes—that is, to give the Europeans the climate of "Lafayette, we are here!" So this colloquy occurred between Senator Russell and General Marshall:

"Senator Russell: . . . Do you think that the sending of as many as six divisions to Europe will establish the morale and the will to fight that is essential for the defense of western Europe in case of attack?

"Secretary Marshall: . . . It (six divisions) is a keystone, a very essential unit there, but it is significant of our purpose, our intentions, of our will to do what we properly can for strengthening the defense of western Europe against a possible attack, and to deter that attack."

Then Senator Russell asked: "You do not, then, think it is a hopeless task to defend western Europe from aggression?"

"Secretary Marshall: No, sir, I do not. . . ."

The colloquy between Senator Russell and General Marshall finally landed into a morass, for it seems that General Marshall wants us to have ground troops in Europe to defend the United States, but he did not say how having ground troops in Europe would safeguard the United States from being bombed in global war perhaps from a base, say, at Narvik.

The gist of it all is in this colloquy:

"Senator Byrd: I have been told by a very high military authority that there would be a minimum of two to three million trained troops that would be necessary to be effective in resistance of Russia. I am not speaking of our troops but the combined forces.

"Secretary Marshall: I would say to that that you would have to have so many qualifications as to time and other factors that it would be a highly hypothetical question. We have no plans for additional units at the present time."

This is an astonishingly confused business as I read the myriad pages of testimony. The record does not make it crystal clear why we are sending ground troops to Europe except for morale—which is an undefinable term for uncertain purposes.

That Body of Yours

TREATING VARICOSE ULCER

A middle-aged overweight man was undergoing examination by his physician. The physician pointed out the varicose veins in his legs.

"Shall I rest my legs more?" asked the patient.

"No," said the physician, "every step you take actually helps to pump the blood upwards toward the heart. Varicose veins in the legs show that the lining of the veins in the legs have been damaged by infection from time to time and affected their valves so that blood flows back down the veins instead of being held up by the valves. However, if after taking a walk or being on your feet for some time, you sit down and put your legs up on a chair, you will help the flow of blood upward. You have what is called lower leg stasis" (stoppage or slowing of the blood in the veins).

What can be done when the big muscle in lower leg, the calf, fails to pump the blood upward and varicose veins and varicose ulcers occur in the popliteal vein just above the calf at space back of knee?

In The British Medical Journal, Dr. G. Bauer reports performing 245 popliteal divisions on patients with non-specific (not due to disease) ulcers of the lower leg associated with chronic swelling, hardened skin changes, and pain due to lower-leg stasis. Because man is on his feet so much, there may be an overloading of blood in the lower parts of the leg. This superfluous blood is usually removed by the contractions of the calf muscle which act as a "heart" in pumping blood upward in healthy persons. Because the valves in these large veins in those with lower-leg stasis have been developed, the calf muscles cannot push blood upward and it flows back, causing varicose veins and then ulcers.

By dividing the vein (popliteal) lying in hollow of the knee, the calf muscles drive the blood through fine or small channels into the muscle veins of the thigh and no back flow can occur. The operation of dividing this popliteal vein seems to be entirely free from risk. There were no deaths or complications in the 245 patients who underwent operation by Dr. Bauer.

Follow-up examinations of 196 patients after six months to three years showed that the ulcers of 165 (84 per cent) remained healed and the patients did not present any symptoms of stasis—pain and swelling. There were 31 patients in which a return of stasis occurred after shorter or longer periods.

Therefore, the present Jugoslav government line is that Stalin uses communism merely as a cloak for imperialism and that communism of the Jugoslab brand is pure and unadulterated. What most people outside this country fail to realize is that the hard core of the Jugoslav government was trained either in Moscow or in Serbian jails during the Fascist regime of King Alexander and that they will support Tito only as long as he retains a theoretic communism.

This puts the capitalistic United States in a more paradoxical situation than anywhere else in the world. For, while Jugoslavia is a communistic state, it remains simultaneously the greatest thorn in Stalin's side because it demonstrates to the Red satellites that it is possible to thumb a nose at the almighty Kremlin and get away with it.

Furthermore, if the United States did not support Jugoslavia Tito unquestionably would fall and, if he fell, this country unquestionably also would go back to Stalin.

Thus we find ourselves in the position of inferentially supporting communism yet opposing Stalinism, Stalinism being Russia's aggressive demand that the rest of the world come under its rule by force. So far, the United States government has justified its Jugoslav marriage of convenience just as it has its dealings with dictator nations of Latin America on the ground that every nation has the right to choose its own form of government so long as it does not try to foist its rule on others.

Here is how communism works in Jugoslavia today—All stores are owned by the government through many store owners are kept as their managers. Every business establishment, including any barbershop using more than three barbers, is operated by the government. The stores are modern and have good-looking goods, but the prices are terrific. Jugoslavia today is the most expensive country in the world outside Russia. . . . Some party members were formerly able to buy at special discounts but this practice raised such resentment that the system was abolished. . . . Dinner in ordinary restaurants costs almost as much as dinner at the Waldorf and it's difficult to see how the average worker lives. Most of them do so by eating at government canteens, which is considerably cheaper though the food is not good. . . . Ration cards enable them to purchase food at low prices but food has been so scarce that the government has not been able to fulfill the amount of food each worker is supposed to get on his ration card. This is where American food has been so important to Tito at this particular time. . . . Foreigners in Jugoslavia are given special tourist dinars which give them a 70 per cent discount at all hotels and restaurants. Without this discount it would be impossible for tourist travel through Jugoslavia.

Jugoslav Economic Conditions are somewhat worse than in the Red satellite countries—even than in Bulgaria, which also suffered from the 1950 drought. This is not due to Communistic farm collectivization so much as to the Jugoslav ambition to build factories in a hurry, which caused them to siphon too much money out of agriculture and into industrial materials . . . . while the drought caused a severe crop shortage some shortage undoubtedly was due also to peasant resentment against the quota system by which he is required to produce certain quotas for the government. Last week this quota system was largely relaxed—another important step in the gradual easing off of strict Communism . . . before it was relaxed, however, about 11,000 Serbian peasants went to jail, partly for failing to fill farm quotas and partly for refusing to join the farm collectives . . . so far, about 19 per cent of the farm collectivized with the greatest success are in Montenegro and Macedonia, where the farmers had little to start with. As usually happens those with the least to lose became Communists more easily, while the wealthier Serbian peasants, who have fought for their land since the days of the Turks, went to jail rather than be collectivized.

Communism Relaxing—Various signs point to a gradual relaxation of strict communism. In addition to the easing of farm quotas, more and more people are flocking back to the churches. . . . Americans appear popular everywhere—perhaps more so than in western Europe, certainly more so than in France and England. . . . The Jugoslav press now prints full and free accounts of foreign news and there is no censorship of foreign newsmen whatsoever. Domestic news, however, still follows the party line. . . . Begging is now almost nonexistent in Jugoslavia whereas, 30 years ago, when I was last here, beggars were everywhere. Tipping has also been abolished, though not entirely lived up to. Thievery, which some years ago was the greatest curse of the country, now seems to have disappeared. When I was here after World War I it was necessary to have a gendarme stand guard over one's baggage and then, sometimes, it was necessary to watch the gendarme. . . . Hitherto Tito has held a tight, virtually a dictatorial, rein over Parliament, but a few days ago a Parliament took at least one democratic belt over the traces against him. He had introduced a criminal code which provided imprisonment for any woman submitting to abortion. However, Parliament refused to approve this part of the law and finally decreed that only the doctor who performed an abortion, not the woman who submitted to it, would be guilty of crime. This is a small straw in the wind but it may indicate gradual restoration of democratic processes in Jugoslavia.

Didn't Wave, They're Saved

Oneida, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—Two railroad workers were alive today because a crewman on a passing freight missed their customary wave. Lyle Stratton of Norwich signalled the New York, Ontario and Western train to a halt when he noticed the men had failed to wave. Crewmen found Henry Gross, 58, and Harrison Purdy, 62, unconscious in a compressor car. Police said carbon monoxide fumes from the compressor apparently had "pocketed in the car." Gross and Purdy, both of Middletown, were revived by firemen and taken to Oneida Hospital. Their condiditions were listed as good.

Optimism Is Good If It Isn't Overdone

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

It is a good idea to play a hand optimistically when there is no other way to make the contract. It is a mistake, however, to play more optimistically than you need to.

In a recent team match in England, the hand shown today was played overoptimistically in the first room. Declarer won the opening club lead with the ace and immediately went after the hearts. He was correct in assuming that one of the red suits had to be developed for the game contract. He would have been successful if the hearts had broken 3-3, but the actual 4-2 break defeated him. The defenders managed to win three heart tricks and two clubs.

In the second room declarer was optimistic enough to hope that one of the red suits could be set up. However, he properly went after the diamonds instead of the hearts.

The first trick was won in dummy with the king of clubs, whereupon the ace of diamonds was cashed. At trick three the low diamond was led from dummy, and East made the excellent play of the eight.

South would have lost his contract if he had finessed the nine, but he was astute enough to put up his jack of diamonds, winning the trick. He knew that any play would succeed if the diamonds were 3-3. His only other chance was to catch the doubleton ten of diamonds. He was rewarded when his jack of diamonds dropped on West's ten.

It was now easy for South to knock the queen of diamonds, win the club return with the ace, and knock out the king od diamonds. The defenders could take two clubs and two diamonds but South was bound to get in with the king of spades to run his last diamond and the rest of the tricks.

Parolee Killed

New York, March 10 (AP)—A Sing Sing parolee was killed by police last night, authorities said, after he brandished a realistic toy revolver. The ex-convict, Louis Antonacci, of Brooklyn, was being pursued by police after he allegedly held up a Manhattan delicatessen and then a liquor store. Police said they chased him to the 13th story of an East Side building, where they yelled for him to put up his hands. But instead, police said, Antonacci yelled: "I'm just out of Sing Sing and I'll kill you." As he raised the toy gun, police said they thought it was a real weapon and opened fire.

Herricks Address D.A.R. Junior Group On Puppet History

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herrick spoke on puppets and their history Monday evening, when they met with the Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, D.A.R. Mrs. Ruth K. Friedell, chairman, presided, and Mrs. Roger G. Billings introduced the guest speakers. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Herrick presented several marionette acts with puppets they had made themselves.

The beginnings of puppetry, Mr. Herrick told the group, have never been traced, although they are mentioned in ancient writings, and date back to the early days of the church, when small figures were used to tell Bible stories. The origins of puppetry can be found in Italy, Germany, France, and England, he said, and the Italian puppets, which were large wooden figures sometimes weighing as high as 150 pounds, were first introduced and shown in America by the Manteo family. Their size, however, made them ungainly to handle. It is believed that Italy and Germany first developed string marionettes.

During his talk, Mr. Herrick explained that there are different types of puppets. These include the hand puppet, which is operated by three fingers, and marionettes, which are operated by a number of strings. Most marionettes require nine strings, made of fish line. The result is a more human, therefore more popular type of puppet.

Making a Puppet

Mr. Herrick then outlined briefly the steps in making a puppet. The head is first modeled in clay, he explained, and used to make a plaster cast. The head is then made from either plaster wood, or paper mache. The bodies, which contain all the same joints as the human body, are wooden. Once the body is assembled, Mrs. Herrick takes over with thimble and thread to clothe the wooden actor. The completed puppet usually stands two feet high.

Meanwhile, to present a puppet show, Mr. Herrick continued, a miniature stage must be built and designed, scenery must be painted, and costumes made. A duplicate puppet is required for each change of dress as the strings are attached after the puppet is dressed, and its clothes cannot be changed.

Not Always Popular

Puppetry, Mr. Herrick told the group, was not, until fairly recent times, too popular in the United States, although puppet shows were mentioned in colonial history. In fact, when puppetry was first introduced here, the performances were given secretly.

Mr. and Mrs. Herrick then showed the group several of the puppets which they had made. Among them was a likeable little fellow, Tommy N. Terwilliger, who turned out to be a talented tap dancer. Members were also allowed to try their skill at puppetry, and the wooden actors were passed among the group for first-hand inspection.

During the business meeting reports were given by the various committee chairmen, and the group was reminded that at next month's dinner meeting April 2 Mrs. William Pouch, honorable president general, N.S.D.A.R., will be guest speaker. There will be special music for this meeting, and members will be contacted for reservations.

The group was also reminded of the annual bazaar and card party March 14.

Hostesses for the evening were the Mmes. Conrad Gross, J. Douglas Rattray, and Richard Whiston.

Flowers Go to Your Head for Easter

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York — NEA — An Easter bonnet, as every woman who's ever worn one knows, is a special hat. Even in a spring such as this, when hats are relatively simple and uncluttered, the Easter hat is gorgeous with flowers and ribbons, and 1951's top designers have made them real confections.

Sally Victor, for instance, does an unmistakable Easter bonnet in jonquil yellow and gives it a rippled brim. She places small clusters of jonquils under and over the brim to make a flower frame for a pretty face.

A dramatic Easter hat by Walter Florell is in turquoise balibuntl straw, its wide brim covered with huge red velvet flowers. A coarse mesh face veil is in the same brilliant turquoise.

A fragile cloche from the hands of Mago Hayes is pale blue hair braid covered over white tiny forget-me-nots in various shades of blue. It's banded in velvet ribbon in a deeper shade of blue.

Another true Easter bonnet, this one by Lenesta, is handwoven chartreuse hair braid, its rippling brim finished with a flange of hair braid. The trim for this hat is chartreuse forget-me-nots.

Even the wide-brimmed sailor will appear in the Easter parade bedecked in flowers. Sally Victor does one in rough white straw braid, gives it large, raggedy red poppies as trimming. The brim is literally loaded with these poppies, to create an effective hat that will turn many a head on Easter Sunday.

Three Footlighters Return for Surprise Visit at Meeting

What started out as a perfectly routine meeting of the Footlighters' Board of Governors this week, took one of those unexpected turns. When all was said and done, there was little time to make plans for the month's scheduled performances, or the Little Theatre's opening, or the choice of a play for a June production date. Instead, coincidence propelled three ex-Footlighters onto the scene: Pvt. Earl G. Mack, en route from Texas to California, via a few days at home; Richard Petersen sporting an envied sun tan, after a southern cruise with the Merchant Marine; and Mrs. Alfred Flowers, the former Jacqueline Mogan arriving from Phoenix, Ariz., to pay a visit to her home town.

Private Mack was the Footlighters' treasurer, Mr. Petersen, now at his home in Bearsville and planning a stint with the army, played Mr. Dangle in "The Critic" last summer, and Mrs. Flowers, before her marriage and trip west, was the Footlighters' corresponding secretary.

Nevertheless, President Jules Viglielmo did find time to name the following committee chairmen: Dorothy Stewart and Ruth Fredericks, refreshments; Joan Jablonski, John Mayo and Ernest Ward, play-reading; Jules Viglielmo, play-reading; Ernest Grafe and John Mayo, lighting; Frances Grafe, program.

Meanwhile, tonight, at 8:30 p. m., the Footlighters will present a benefit performance of Thornton Wilder's one-act play, "The Queens of France," and K. J. Peabody's "My Fine Ladies," at Odd Fellows Hall in Olive Bridge. The program is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Olive Bridge Fire Department, with Mrs. Jane Fox in charge of publicity, Refreshments are under Mrs. Ida May Marlatt, and Miss Kathleen McParlan is ticket chairman.

Cast for "The Queens of France" includes John Mayo as the devious Monsieur Cahusac, with Mrs. Flowers, Betti Williams, Ruth Fredericks and Joan Jablonski as the queens.

This is the second of a series of "on the road" performances scheduled by the Footlighters. Entertainment chairmen of local hospitals, orphanages, and other institutions are urged to contact Joan Jablonski, recording secretary, at 459-J, for available performance dates.

Tickets for tonight's production, which is under the direction of John Mayo, will be sold at the box office. During the evening refreshments will be available.

Plan Program

The J.B. Quartet of Brooklyn will give a program at the Church of God in Christ, 9 Mill street, Sunday at 3 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

It is believed that the word "lumber" for sawed timber was first used in Boston about 1663.

Music Is Important Feature This Easter At Old First Church

Music will be an important feature of the Easter season this year at the Old First Reformed Church, Donald Romme, minister of music, announced today.

On Palm Sunday and Easter morning the six choir organizations of the church will participate in the services, while at the Passion Play presentations Palm Sunday and Monday evenings music will be furnished by the senior choir, which will offer portions of Dubois' "Seven Last Words," and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

At the evening communion service Maundy Thursday, the senior, young people's and girls' carol choirs will sing music by William Billings (1746-1800), probably the first important American composer.

Meanwhile, the senior choir has planned a special program of music by Donald Romme to be given Good Friday, March 23, at 8 p. m. Included in the program will be a performance of the cantata, "The Cross of Christ." This work, originally composed in 1946, was written for a chorus, six soloists, and accompaniment. It was later rewritten in the fall of 1950. The text is scriptural, with interpolated meditative passages.

Another first performance at this service will be a new setting for organ, piano, and chorus of the chorale-melody, "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded." Completed in February, this setting was written especially for presentation at this service.

Knights Breakfast Plans Are Completed

At the final meeting of the committee planning for the annual communion breakfast of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, reports indicated a record turnout for the event Sunday, March 11. It will take place after the 8 a. m. Mass in St. Peter's Church, where the Knights are to receive Holy Communion in a body.

Past Grand Knight Raymond J. Mino, general chairman of the committee, has announced the breakfast plans have been completed. Breakfast will be served by the Columbian Squires in the Knights of Columbus building immediately following the Mass. Principal speaker at the breakfast will be Stephen J. Cushing, past state deputy of the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Cushing, who has held, during his career, all the important offices in the organization, is known throughout the state as an eloquent speaker on the fraternal order.

The speaking program will be opened by Grand Knight James V. Geary, who will welcome the members and introduce the toastmaster Dr. John Cooke, Jr.

K.H.S. Clarinet Quartet

Pianist to Present A.A.U.W. Program

Miss Amelia Altamari of Port Ewen, an accomplished pianist, will present a lecture recital at the regular meeting of the American Association of University Women, Kingston Chapter, Tuesday, March 13. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Altamari is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, where she received her bachelor and master degrees in music. In addition, she did graduate work at the Julliard School of Music, New York, and is a member of the National Honorary Music Society.

Schirick of State Supreme Court lowered the bail yesterday. He described as excessive the bail set by Judge William E. J. Connor of Columbia county. She is accused of shooting Hall intentionally on Jan. 31 at a farm house near Malden bridge. She claims the shooting was accidental.

Former Actress Found

New York, March 10 (AP) — A five-year search for a former actress who failed to collect income from two trust funds ended yesterday at a Suffolk county mental institution. The woman is Mrs. Consuelo Bailey Kear, now 60, who a decade ago was a familiar figure along Broadway. The actress suddenly cut short her career to live in seclusion. But on the street she often was seen carrying two fur coats and dragging her belongings in a cardboard box—even in hot summer weather. In May, 1946, she was admitted to the Kings Park State Hospital in Suffolk county on Long Island. Mrs. Kear's estate is valued at "more than $50,000." It will be turned over to the state, which now is her legal guardian.

Herricks Address D.A.R. Junior Group On Puppet History

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herrick spoke on puppets and their history Monday evening, when they met with the Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, D.A.R. Mrs. Ruth K. Friedell, chairman, presided, and Mrs. Roger G. Billings introduced the guest speakers. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Herrick presented several marionette acts with puppets they had made themselves.

The beginnings of puppetry, Mr. Herrick told the group, have never been traced, although they are mentioned in ancient writings, and date back to the early days of the church, when small figures were used to tell Bible stories. The origins of puppetry can be found in Italy, Germany, France, and England, he said, and the Italian puppets, which were large wooden figures sometimes weighing as high as 150 pounds, were first introduced and shown in America by the Manteo family. Their size, however, made them ungainly to handle. It is believed that Italy and Germany first developed string marionettes.

During his talk, Mr. Herrick explained that there are different types of puppets. These include the hand puppet, which is operated by three fingers, and marionettes, which are operated by a number of strings. Most marionettes require nine strings, made of fish line. The result is a more human, therefore more popular type of puppet.

Making a Puppet

Mr. Herrick then outlined briefly the steps in making a puppet. The head is first modeled in clay, he explained, and used to make a plaster cast. The head is then made from either plaster wood, or paper mache. The bodies, which contain all the same joints as the human body, are wooden. Once the body is assembled, Mrs. Herrick takes over with thimble and thread to clothe the wooden actor. The completed puppet usually stands two feet high.

Meanwhile, to present a puppet show, Mr. Herrick continued, a miniature stage must be built and designed, scenery must be painted, and costumes made. A duplicate puppet is required for each change of dress as the strings are attached after the puppet is dressed, and its clothes cannot be changed.

Not Always Popular

Puppetry, Mr. Herrick told the group, was not, until fairly recent times, too popular in the United States, although puppet shows were mentioned in colonial history. In fact, when puppetry was first introduced here, the performances were given secretly.

Mr. and Mrs. Herrick then showed the group several of the puppets which they had made. Among them was a likeable little fellow, Tommy N. Terwilliger, who turned out to be a talented tap dancer. Members were also allowed to try their skill at puppetry, and the wooden actors were passed among the group for first-hand inspection.

During the business meeting reports were given by the various committee chairmen, and the group was reminded that at next month's dinner meeting April 2 Mrs. William Pouch, honorable president general, N.S.D.A.R., will be guest speaker. There will be special music for this meeting, and members will be contacted for reservations.

The group was also reminded of the annual bazaar and card party March 14.

Flowers Go to Your Head for Easter

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York — NEA — An Easter bonnet, as every woman who's ever worn one knows, is a special hat. Even in a spring such as this, when hats are relatively simple and uncluttered, the Easter hat is gorgeous with flowers and ribbons, and 1951's top designers have made them real confections.

Sally Victor, for instance, does an unmistakable Easter bonnet in jonquil yellow and gives it a rippled brim. She places small clusters of jonquils under and over the brim to make a flower frame for a pretty face.

A dramatic Easter hat by Walter Florell is in turquoise balibuntl straw, its wide brim covered with huge red velvet flowers. A coarse mesh face veil is in the same brilliant turquoise.

A fragile cloche from the hands of Mago Hayes is pale blue hair braid covered over white tiny forget-me-nots in various shades of blue. It's banded in velvet ribbon in a deeper shade of blue.

Another true Easter bonnet, this one by Lenesta, is handwoven chartreuse hair braid, its rippling brim finished with a flange of hair braid. The trim for this hat is chartreuse forget-me-nots.

Even the wide-brimmed sailor will appear in the Easter parade bedecked in flowers. Sally Victor does one in rough white straw braid, gives it large, raggedy red poppies as trimming. The brim is literally loaded with these poppies, to create an effective hat that will turn many a head on Easter Sunday.

Three Footlighters Return for Surprise Visit at Meeting

What started out as a perfectly routine meeting of the Footlighters' Board of Governors this week, took one of those unexpected turns. When all was said and done, there was little time to make plans for the month's scheduled performances, or the Little Theatre's opening, or the choice of a play for a June production date. Instead, coincidence propelled three ex-Footlighters onto the scene: Pvt. Earl G. Mack, en route from Texas to California, via a few days at home; Richard Petersen sporting an envied sun tan, after a southern cruise with the Merchant Marine; and Mrs. Alfred Flowers, the former Jacqueline Mogan arriving from Phoenix, Ariz., to pay a visit to her home town.

Private Mack was the Footlighters' treasurer, Mr. Petersen, now at his home in Bearsville and planning a stint with the army, played Mr. Dangle in "The Critic" last summer, and Mrs. Flowers, before her marriage and trip west, was the Footlighters' corresponding secretary.

Nevertheless, President Jules Viglielmo did find time to name the following committee chairmen: Dorothy Stewart and Ruth Fredericks, refreshments; Joan Jablonski, John Mayo and Ernest Ward, play-reading; Jules Viglielmo, play-reading; Ernest Grafe and John Mayo, lighting; Frances Grafe, program.

Meanwhile, tonight, at 8:30 p. m., the Footlighters will present a benefit performance of Thornton Wilder's one-act play, "The Queens of France," and K. J. Peabody's "My Fine Ladies," at Odd Fellows Hall in Olive Bridge. The program is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Olive Bridge Fire Department, with Mrs. Jane Fox in charge of publicity, Refreshments are under Mrs. Ida May Marlatt, and Miss Kathleen McParlan is ticket chairman.

Cast for "The Queens of France" includes John Mayo as the devious Monsieur Cahusac, with Mrs. Flowers, Betti Williams, Ruth Fredericks and Joan Jablonski as the queens.

This is the second of a series of "on the road" performances scheduled by the Footlighters. Entertainment chairmen of local hospitals, orphanages, and other institutions are urged to contact Joan Jablonski, recording secretary, at 459-J, for available performance dates.

Tickets for tonight's production, which is under the direction of John Mayo, will be sold at the box office. During the evening refreshments will be available.

Plan Program

The J.B. Quartet of Brooklyn will give a program at the Church of God in Christ, 9 Mill street, Sunday at 3 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

It is believed that the word "lumber" for sawed timber was first used in Boston about 1663.

Music Is Important Feature This Easter At Old First Church

Music will be an important feature of the Easter season this year at the Old First Reformed Church, Donald Romme, minister of music, announced today.

On Palm Sunday and Easter morning the six choir organizations of the church will participate in the services, while at the Passion Play presentations Palm Sunday and Monday evenings music will be furnished by the senior choir, which will offer portions of Dubois' "Seven Last Words," and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

At the evening communion service Maundy Thursday, the senior, young people's and girls' carol choirs will sing music by William Billings (1746-1800), probably the first important American composer.

Meanwhile, the senior choir has planned a special program of music by Donald Romme to be given Good Friday, March 23, at 8 p. m. Included in the program will be a performance of the cantata, "The Cross of Christ." This work, originally composed in 1946, was written for a chorus, six soloists, and accompaniment. It was later rewritten in the fall of 1950. The text is scriptural, with interpolated meditative passages.

Another first performance at this service will be a new setting for organ, piano, and chorus of the chorale-melody, "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded." Completed in February, this setting was written especially for presentation at this service.

Knights Breakfast Plans Are Completed

At the final meeting of the committee planning for the annual communion breakfast of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, reports indicated a record turnout for the event Sunday, March 11. It will take place after the 8 a. m. Mass in St. Peter's Church, where the Knights are to receive Holy Communion in a body.

Past Grand Knight Raymond J. Mino, general chairman of the committee, has announced the breakfast plans have been completed. Breakfast will be served by the Columbian Squires in the Knights of Columbus building immediately following the Mass. Principal speaker at the breakfast will be Stephen J. Cushing, past state deputy of the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Cushing, who has held, during his career, all the important offices in the organization, is known throughout the state as an eloquent speaker on the fraternal order.

The speaking program will be opened by Grand Knight James V. Geary, who will welcome the members and introduce the toastmaster Dr. John Cooke, Jr.

Pianist to Present A.A.U.W. Program

Miss Amelia Altamari of Port Ewen, an accomplished pianist, will present a lecture recital at the regular meeting of the American Association of University Women, Kingston Chapter, Tuesday, March 13. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Altamari is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, where she received her bachelor and master degrees in music. In addition, she did graduate work at the Julliard School of Music, New York, and is a member of the National Honorary Music Society.

Herricks Address D.A.R. Junior Group On Puppet History

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herrick spoke on puppets and their history Monday evening, when they met with the Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, D.A.R. Mrs. Ruth K. Friedell, chairman, presided, and Mrs. Roger G. Billings introduced the guest speakers. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Herrick presented several marionette acts with puppets they had made themselves.

The beginnings of puppetry, Mr. Herrick told the group, have never been traced, although they are mentioned in ancient writings, and date back to the early days of the church, when small figures were used to tell Bible stories. The origins of puppetry can be found in Italy, Germany, France, and England, he said, and the Italian puppets, which were large wooden figures sometimes weighing as high as 150 pounds, were first introduced and shown in America by the Manteo family. Their size, however, made them ungainly to handle. It is believed that Italy and Germany first developed string marionettes.

During his talk, Mr. Herrick explained that there are different types of puppets. These include the hand puppet, which is operated by three fingers, and marionettes, which are operated by a number of strings. Most marionettes require nine strings, made of fish line. The result is a more human, therefore more popular type of puppet.

Making a Puppet

Mr. Herrick then outlined briefly the steps in making a puppet. The head is first modeled in clay, he explained, and used to make a plaster cast. The head is then made from either plaster wood, or paper mache. The bodies, which contain all the same joints as the human body, are wooden. Once the body is assembled, Mrs. Herrick takes over with thimble and thread to clothe the wooden actor. The completed puppet usually stands two feet high.

Meanwhile, to present a puppet show, Mr. Herrick continued, a miniature stage must be built and designed, scenery must be painted, and costumes made. A duplicate puppet is required for each change of dress as the strings are attached after the puppet is dressed, and its clothes cannot be changed.

Not Always Popular

Puppetry, Mr. Herrick told the group, was not, until fairly recent times, too popular in the United States, although puppet shows were mentioned in colonial history. In fact, when puppetry was first introduced here, the performances were given secretly.

Mr. and Mrs. Herrick then showed the group several of the puppets which they had made. Among them was a likeable little fellow, Tommy N. Terwilliger, who turned out to be a talented tap dancer. Members were also allowed to try their skill at puppetry, and the wooden actors were passed among the group for first-hand inspection.

During the business meeting reports were given by the various committee chairmen, and the group was reminded that at next month's dinner meeting April 2 Mrs. William Pouch, honorable president general, N.S.D.A.R., will be guest speaker. There will be special music for this meeting, and members will be contacted for reservations.

The group was also reminded of the annual bazaar and card party March 14.

Flowers Go to Your Head for Easter

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York — NEA — An Easter bonnet, as every woman who's ever worn one knows, is a special hat. Even in a spring such as this, when hats are relatively simple and uncluttered, the Easter hat is gorgeous with flowers and ribbons, and 1951's top designers have made them real confections.

Sally Victor, for instance, does an unmistakable Easter bonnet in jonquil yellow and gives it a rippled brim. She places small clusters of jonquils under and over the brim to make a flower frame for a pretty face.

A dramatic Easter hat by Walter Florell is in turquoise balibuntl straw, its wide brim covered with huge red velvet flowers. A coarse mesh face veil is in the same brilliant turquoise.

A fragile cloche from the hands of Mago Hayes is pale blue hair braid covered over white tiny forget-me-nots in various shades of blue. It's banded in velvet ribbon in a deeper shade of blue.

Another true Easter bonnet, this one by Lenesta, is handwoven chartreuse hair braid, its rippling brim finished with a flange of hair braid. The trim for this hat is chartreuse forget-me-nots.

Even the wide-brimmed sailor will appear in the Easter parade bedecked in flowers. Sally Victor does one in rough white straw braid, gives it large, raggedy red poppies as trimming. The brim is literally loaded with these poppies, to create an effective hat that will turn many a head on Easter Sunday.

Three Footlighters Return for Surprise Visit at Meeting

What started out as a perfectly routine meeting of the Footlighters' Board of Governors this week, took one of those unexpected turns. When all was said and done, there was little time to make plans for the month's scheduled performances, or the Little Theatre's opening, or the choice of a play for a June production date. Instead, coincidence propelled three ex-Footlighters onto the scene: Pvt. Earl G. Mack, en route from Texas to California, via a few days at home; Richard Petersen sporting an envied sun tan, after a southern cruise with the Merchant Marine; and Mrs. Alfred Flowers, the former Jacqueline Mogan arriving from Phoenix, Ariz., to pay a visit to her home town.

Private Mack was the Footlighters' treasurer, Mr. Petersen, now at his home in Bearsville and planning a stint with the army, played Mr. Dangle in "The Critic" last summer, and Mrs. Flowers, before her marriage and trip west, was the Footlighters' corresponding secretary.

Nevertheless, President Jules Viglielmo did find time to name the following committee chairmen: Dorothy Stewart and Ruth Fredericks, refreshments; Joan Jablonski, John Mayo and Ernest Ward, play-reading; Jules Viglielmo, play-reading; Ernest Grafe and John Mayo, lighting; Frances Grafe, program.

Meanwhile, tonight, at 8:30 p. m., the Footlighters will present a benefit performance of Thornton Wilder's one-act play, "The Queens of France," and K. J. Peabody's "My Fine Ladies," at Odd Fellows Hall in Olive Bridge. The program is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Olive Bridge Fire Department, with Mrs. Jane Fox in charge of publicity. Refreshments are under Mrs. Ida May Marlatt, and Miss Kathleen McParlan is ticket chairman.

Cast for "The Queens of France" includes John Mayo as the devious Monsieur Cahusac, with Mrs. Flowers, Betti Williams, Ruth Fredericks and Joan Jablonski as the queens.

This is the second of a series of "on the road" performances scheduled by the Footlighters. Entertainment chairmen of local hospitals, orphanages, and other institutions are urged to contact Joan Jablonski, recording secretary, at 459-J, for available performance dates.

Tickets for tonight's production, which is under the direction of John Mayo, will be sold at the box office. During the evening refreshments will be available.

Plan Program

The J.B. Quartet of Brooklyn will give a program at the Church of God in Christ, 9 Mill street, Sunday at 3 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

It is believed that the word "lumber" for sawed timber was first used in Boston about 1663.

Music Is Important Feature This Easter At Old First Church

Music will be an important feature of the Easter season this year at the Old First Reformed Church, Donald Romme, minister of music, announced today.

On Palm Sunday and Easter morning the six choir organizations of the church will participate in the services, while at the Passion Play presentations Palm Sunday and Monday evenings music will be furnished by the senior choir, which will offer portions of Dubois' "Seven Last Words," and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

At the evening communion service Maundy Thursday, the senior, young people's and girls' carol choirs will sing music by William Billings (1746-1800), probably the first important American composer.

Meanwhile, the senior choir has planned a special program of music by Donald Romme to be given Good Friday, March 23, at 8 p. m. Included in the program will be a performance of the cantata, "The Cross of Christ." This work, originally composed in 1946, was written for a chorus, six soloists, and accompaniment. It was later rewritten in the fall of 1950. The text is scriptural, with interpolated meditative passages.

Another first performance at this service will be a new setting for organ, piano, and chorus of the chorale-melody, "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded." Completed in February, this setting was written especially for presentation at this service.

Knights Breakfast Plans Are Completed

At the final meeting of the committee planning for the annual communion breakfast of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, reports indicated a record turnout for the event Sunday, March 11. It will take place after the 8 a. m. Mass in St. Peter's Church, where the Knights are to receive Holy Communion in a body.

Past Grand Knight Raymond J. Mino, general chairman of the committee, has announced the breakfast plans have been completed. Breakfast will be served by the Columbian Squires in the Knights of Columbus building immediately following the Mass. Principal speaker at the breakfast will be Stephen J. Cushing, past state deputy of the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Cushing, who has held, during his career, all the important offices in the organization, is known throughout the state as an eloquent speaker on the fraternal order.

The speaking program will be opened by Grand Knight James V. Geary, who will welcome the members and introduce the toastmaster Dr. John Cooke, Jr.

Miss Amelia Altamari of Port Ewen, an accomplished pianist, will present a lecture recital at the regular meeting of the American Association of University Women, Kingston Chapter, Tuesday, March 13. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Altamari is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, where she received her bachelor and master degrees in music. In addition, she did graduate work at the Julliard School of Music, New York, and is a member of the National Honorary Music Society.

The Mothers' Club of School No. 2 heard Warren Russell, director of audio-visual education in the city's school, during their regular meeting Tuesday. After explaining the need for preparedness against an atomic invasion, Mr. Russell presented and discussed the film, "Beating the A-bomb." The film is a release from the Civilian Defense Committee.

"Beating the A-bomb" was followed by a second film, "Danger Is Your Companion," which deals with first aid, and is sponsored by the Red Cross. It was pointed out during this reel that knowledge of first aid is needed more for civilian accidents than for war.

First Birthday Celebration Held

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Savino held a party Wednesday, March 7, in honor of the first birthday of their daughter, Janice. The party was held at 3:30 p. m. at their home at 178 Wall street.

The following guests attended: Mrs. Joseph Vozdick, Mrs. Lillian Lieske, Eileen Heins, Jeffrey and Donald Davis, Gary Van Etten, Karen Locke, Ricky and Bobby Friedman, Charles Kogon, and Alan Navy. Woman's Bail Reduced

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—A 35-year-old mother accused of murdering a game protector in an empty farmhouse was free today in reduced bail of $5,000. Mrs. Anetha L. Radewitz of Chatham Center had been held in $50,000 bail since Monday on a charge of second-degree murder in the shooting of Thomas J. Hall, Jr., 31, of Valatie. Justice Harry E. Schirick of State Supreme Court lowered the bail yesterday. He described as excessive the bail set by Judge William E. J. Connor of Columbia county. Mrs. Radewitz pleaded innocent at arraignment before Connor in Hudson, shortly after she was indicted by a county grand jury. She is accused of shooting Hall intentionally on Jan. 31 at a farm house near Malden bridge. She claims the shooting was accidental.

Former Actress Found

New York, March 10 (AP) — A five-year search for a former actress who failed to collect income from two trust funds ended yesterday at a Suffolk county mental institution. The woman is Mrs. Consuelo Bailey Kear, now 60, who a decade ago was a familiar figure along Broadway. The actress suddenly cut short her career to live in seclusion. But on the street she often was seen carrying two fur coats and dragging her belongings in a cardboard box—even in hot summer weather. In May, 1946, she was admitted to the Kings Park State Hospital in Suffolk county on Long Island. Mrs. Kear's estate is valued at "more than $50,000." It will be turned over to the state, which now is her legal guardian.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

A man has believed all of his life that "for every single thing you give away two will come back to you." A few months ago he gave away his daughter in marriage and now she and her husband both have come home to live with dad.

A woman riding a trolley car was anxious not to pass her destination. She poked the operator with her umbrella.

Woman—Is that the Citizen's National Bank?

Operator—No, mam. That's my stomach.

Putting On, Taking Off

"Tiny" pensively solliloquized thus: "I spent 25 years and a lot of jack to acquire this avoirdupois, and a pleasant time was had by all. Now I'm spending a lot of jack to get rid of it, and I'm having a heck-of-a-time! I don't need any sympathy, suggestions, or smart cracks, either."

The rather proud girl was dancing with a handsome young man when suddenly an undersized chap cut in.

She (icily)—Just why did you take me away from that boy I was dancing with?

Dancer—Pardon me, lady. But you see I'm broke and the fellow you were dancing with kept waving a $5 bill and beckoning me over.

Believe it or not, there's a Busy Bee Grocery on Honey avenue in Columbia, Miss. — Elaine Jones, Clio, Ala.

Man—I'll bet you called up the police department when I didn't came home until so late last night.

Wife—Oh, no, I didn't dearie. I don't know anybody in the police department.

A pleasant time is usually had by all except the hostess.

A party of tourists in Arizona came upon an Indian brave riding a pony. A heavily burdened squaw walked beside him.

Tourist — Why doesn't the squaw ride?

Indian Brave—She got no pony.

Everything costs more nowadays. You have to have your car washed to make it rain now, whereas in the old days you could bring up a shower merely by getting a shine.

Dancer—Pardon me, lady. But you see I'm broke and the fellow you were dancing with kept waving a $5 bill and beckoning me over.

Believe it or not, there's a Busy Bee Grocery on Honey avenue in Columbia, Miss. — Elaine Jones, Clio, Ala.

Man—I'll bet you called up the police department when I didn't came home until so late last night.

Wife—Oh, no, I didn't dearie. I don't know anybody in the police department.

A pleasant time is usually had by all except the hostess.

A party of tourists in Arizona came upon an Indian brave riding a pony. A heavily burdened squaw walked beside him.

Tourist — Why doesn't the squaw ride?

Indian Brave—She got no pony.

Everything costs more nowadays. You have to have your car washed to make it rain now, whereas in the old days you could bring up a shower merely by getting a shine.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

A man has believed all of his life that "for every single thing you give away two will come back to you." A few months ago he gave away his daughter in marriage and now she and her husband both have come home to live with dad.

A woman riding a trolley car was anxious not to pass her destination. She poked the operator with her umbrella.

Woman—Is that the Citizen's National Bank?

Putting On, Taking Off

"Tiny" pensively solliloquized thus: "I spent 25 years and a lot of jack to acquire this avoirdupois, and a pleasant time was had by all. Now I'm spending a lot of jack to get rid of it, and I'm having a heck-of-a-time! I don't need any sympathy, suggestions, or smart cracks, either."

The rather proud girl was dancing with a handsome young man when suddenly an undersized chap cut in.

She (icily)—Just why did you take me away from that boy I was dancing with?

Dancer—Pardon me, lady. But you see I'm broke and the fellow you were dancing with kept waving a $5 bill and beckoning me over.

Believe it or not, there's a Busy Bee Grocery on Honey avenue in Columbia, Miss.—Elaine Jones, Clio, Ala.

Man—I'll bet you called up the police department when I didn't came home until so late last night.

Wicks Bill Seeks $25,000 to Study Racing Setup

Court Ruling Hits Jockey Club As Ruling Agency

State Churches Throw Support to Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—A $25,000 state investigation of all phases of horse racing in New York is demanded by the majority leader of the Senate.

The proposal by Republican Arthur H. Wicks covers both flat and harness racing and betting.

Wicks introduced a resolution yesterday to authorize an extensive investigation by a seven-member joint legislative committee.

He acted a day after the State Court of Appeals declared unconstitutional New York's present licensing system for horse owners, jockeys and trainers.

The high court unanimously invalidated a section of a 17-year-old state law that specifically gave the Jockey Club, a private organization, authority to license horse owners, trainers and jockeys at running races.

The decision was not expected to have any effect on harness racing, which is controlled directly by the State Harness Racing Commission. But harness racing drew fire last night from the State Council of Churches.

The council's legislative committee urged the Legislature to approve a bill to give county supervisors of city legislative bodies veto power over applications for harness racing tracks.

The measure, the committee said, "appears to give the first step in control of what we believe to be a practice unsound in morals and economics."

Many Angles Involved

Wick's resolution said:

"There are involved in the regulation and control of racing, several moral, economic and technical questions which require extended research and study."

The proposed legislative committee would be directed to recommend any necessary changes in laws, rules or regulations affecting the sport.

The Court of Appeals' decision automatically voided licenses issued by the Jockey Club.

Governor Dewey's office said legislation to set up a new licensing system for running tracks would be introduced in the legislature next week.

The Council of Churches, in announcing support of the bill to veto applications for harness racing tracks, distributed a statement from a civic committee opposing a proposed harness tract at Collaner, near Syracuse.

The statement said the Council of Social Agencies of Syracuse and Onondaga county had urged Dewey to "throw his influence behind" the bill introduced by Republican Senator John H. Hughes of Syracuse.

A bitter fight erupted in central New York when Mid-State Raceway, Inc., applied for a state license to operate a track at Collaner. The Harness Racing Commission has not announced its decision on the application.

Phoenicia — 6-8 packed with bare spots, fair.

Jensen On Spot

Phoenix, March 10 (AP) — If Jackie Jensen wants to play the outfield for the New York Yankees he has to hit.

"I didn't say that I had definitely given up on him as a pitcher," Manager Casey Stengel said. "It looks like he would rather play the outfield, but if he can't hit he can't play the outfield for the Yankees. So he'd better hit."

Bankhead Due

Miami, March 10 (AP)—Dan Bankhead is due for a big year with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the opinion of Coach Clyde Sukeforth. And Dan himself says "don't know about winning 20 games, but I can tell you that my arm never felt better."

Lockman in Garden

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP) — Whitey Lockman temporarily will go back to playing the outfield instead of first base for the New York Giants.

"I'm satisfied that Whitey can play first base if an emergency comes up," Manager Leo Durocher explained. "But as of now Whitey goes back to left field and Monty Irvin is our first baseman."

McDermott Starts

Sarasota, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Youth will have a chance today when the Boston Red Sox open their exhibition game schedule here against the Cincinnati Reds.

Chuck Stobbs and Maurice McDermott are listed to pitch for the Hose whose leadoff man and center fielder will be Jimmy Piersall. The last was graduated less than four years ago from Waterbury, Conn., High School where he was a standout basketball and baseball player. Illness of his father forced him to forego college.

Bowling Roundup

Johnny "The Ace" Ferraro was the only Classic kegler to climb over the "600" mark in the Ferraro Classic last night. He turned the trick with 223-233-204-660.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The story behind the March 14 "deadline" for a Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., kitty of $7,500 is this:

A group of industrial figures have pledged $5,000, IF Dave Popick's Committee of Ten can produce $7,500 in popular subscriptions by next Wednesday.

A member of the industrial group told us:

"We (he and small coterie of OB followers) have liquidated nearly $30,000 in baseball liens and debts since 1947. We don't spend a dime from here out, unless the citizens of Kingston furnish substantial evidence that they desire baseball. And they can do that by purchasing $10 shares of stock."

To us that is a sound, reasonable position. If Popick's workers can't come up with $7,500 after nearly five weeks of solicitations, the position of the fans is unmistakable. They just don't want organized ball anymore.

And the city can't expect a handful of public spirited, baseball-minded citizens to keep pumping blood into a dead horse. Next Wednesday's meeting is of grave significance to the future of the game in Kingston. If you rate yourself as just a good or average baseball fan, we urge that you buy a share of stock. We have complete faith in Canadian-American League baseball and believe the city will support a Can-Am franchise.

The most important item at the moment, however, is cold cash.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

First bowling champions of the season: Ted Gile Sr.'s Broadway Flower Shoppe in the Junior Major League. Robert Cutler season's first winner of the KBA medal with a 268. . . . "Bud" Fromer plans to have two trotters in action at Saratoga this summer and will drive one of the sulkies himself. . . . Adirondack Trailways making another late season bid for the HVBL pennant. . . . Clark Mains in boot training with Navy at Newport, R. I. . . . Ezzard Charles politely avoided rating Joe Walcott and Joe Louis with the remark: "I don't want to be an authority. Too many fighters are trying to be authorities." He wouldn't mean Joe Louis, would he? . . . With Leo Durocher's spring outfield experiment with Clint "The Pheenom" Hartung grabbing the spring training headlines, wasn't it time for Branch Rickey to come up with such silly ideas as Ralph Kiner on first; Pete Reiser behind the plate and a left-handed catcher! . . . .

• Of Men and Mice:

Beaverkill-Willowemoc Rod and Gun Club is marshalling strong support for the Mintz bill which would limit the use of certain fishing streams in Delaware, Ulster and Sullivan counties as a source of municipal water supply.

The bill is almost identical with that introduced last year by Senator Arthur H. Wicks. It passed both houses but was vetoed by Governor Dewey with the statement that:

"This bill would prevent the use of certain streams in the three counties as a source of municipal water supply. Such matters are within the discretion of the Water Power and Control Commission. In the absence of an adequate showing of need to deprive the Commission of its power with respect to these streams, the bill is disapproved. . . ."

Undaunted fishermen and outdoor lovers in that area have pressed their case. J. Fred Ackerly, the Beaverkill-Willowemoc president, says:

"In our opinion the Water Power and Control Commission should not have the responsibility to decide what is to be done with our streams. We believe that, too often, politics enter into their decision, causing them to make recommendations favorable to private and municipal interests. For this reason we seek protection for these streams through legislation."

Ackerly points out that a statement in the April-May issue of the New York Conservationist, which is the official organ of the New York State Conservation Department, reads:

"Representatives of the City of New York officially stated that the City is no longer interested in the development of the Little Delaware, the Beaverkill, or the Willowemoc as sources of water supply."

"This statement, attributed to the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York," Ackerly warns, "has lulled many conservationists into a feeling of false security on this issue. Under the present setup, with New York City urging defeat of the Mintz bill, the future of the streams lies in legislation. We urgently ask you to write your senator, assemblyman and the governor, requesting them to enact the Mintz bill.

Why waste spring training money on a guy like Rex Barney, who made his spring debut in mid-season form—five walks, six wild pitches.

Jayvees Outlast MJM In Prelim, 52 to 42

Last Quarter Drive Assures Victory

K.H.S. Jayvees had to stage a fourth period spurt to defeat a hard fighting M.J.M. All Star quintet, 52-42, last night in the preliminary at the municipial auditorium.

It was touch and go for three quarters, with the M.J.M. five leading 13-11 at the quarter and the Jayvees forging ahead 22-19 at halftime.

Ahead 32-31 going into the stretch, the Jayvees pulled away in the closing minutes to sew up the contest with a 19-11 bulge in the period.

Snead and Ferrier Lead Miami Open

Miami Beach, Fla., March 10 (AP)—The celebrities of the big-time golf circuit were beginning to apply the pressure today in the $10,000 Miami Beach Open tournament.

As the 72-hole meet at the Normandy Isle course entered the third round, two old warhorses, Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, were on top, three strokes ahead of the nearest opposition with 134s.

They matched the competitive record for the course with seven-under-par 65s in yesterday's second round to rocket from a 13th place tie all the way up to the lead, replacing several lesser known players who had dominated the first round.

Al Bosch of Garden City, L. I., a 39-year-old veteran of the tournaments but a comparative small-timer in cash winnings, dropped from first place, which he had won with his first-round 66, into a six-way tie for third.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Yes, sir, it's true. This ski slide is the side of a barn roof. The skier is 65-year-old Arnt Bye, who farms ten miles south of Moorhead, Minn. He improvised the slide three years ago when sliding down haystacks got too tame. To complete the slide, Bye uses a tractor-powered snowplow to pile snow against the side of the barn. When the snow is right, he gets a quarter-mile run. (AP Wirephoto)

Ferraro Trails By Five Points

Cy's Diner of Newburgh holds a three-game edge in the lost column over Adirondack Trailways and Newburgh Johnnys, as Hudson Valley League keglers come roaring down the 1950-51 seasonal stretch.

Billikens In Opener

New York, March 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Billikens, one of two teams able to take the measure of mighty Kentucky this season, will meet LaSalle tonight in the feature opening round game of the National Invitation Basketball tournament. Ed Hickey's hot-and-cold outfit, with a 21-7 overall season record and No. 10 national ranking, might well prove the overlooked entry in Ned Irish's 14th hoop party at Madison Square Garden.

Layne Points For Charles, Marciano After Garden Kayo

New York, March 10 (AP) — Rugged Rex Layne set his sights on either heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles or undefeated Rocky Marciano today. No matter who he gets, don't sell him short.

The so-called "smart guys" sold him short last night and they're still paying off as the result of Layne's sensational technical knockout victory over Belting Bob Satterfield in 2:56 of the eighth round of a Madison Square Garden ten rounder.

Utah's pride and joy, undefeated in a year and listed fourth in the NBA rankings, was made the 9 to 5 underdog against the Chicago Negro, rated one of the hardest hitters in the ring today.

After a pulsating seventh round, in which both fighters were rocked by terrific blows, Layne laid out his rival with a crackling right to the jaw. Down on his back went Satterfield for nine. When he climbed groggily to his feet, Layne smashed him to the ropes with a left and right to the head and Bob was helpless. Referee Mark Conn immediately stopped the fight.

Crowd With Him

"Now we want either Charles or Marciano," said Manager Marv Jenson.

"Since Layne also beat Joe Walcott and since Ezzard Charles will be out of action two months, I'll meet Yayne anywhere," Louis said.

Wilt Threatens World Record

New York, March 10 (AP)—"Why didn't they tell me I was so close?"

That was Fred Wilt's lament last night after he had almost smashed the two-mile indoor record in the New York Pioneer track and field championships at the 369th Regiment Armory. His time of 9:03.7 was just three tenths of a second slower than the mark established by Walter Mehl of Wisconsin on the flat track back in 1940.

"Although I turned in a fast mile"—Wilt was timed in 4:26.6 at the half-way mark—"I never knew I was that close going into the gun lap."

Roscoe Browne of the host New York Pioneer Club ran the 880 in 1:57.1 and teammate Reggie Pearman the 600-yards in 1:12.7.

An Apology

The Freeman sports department regrets that its account of the KHS-Middletown DUSO basketball game of March 2 placed Chil Caruso, KHS guard, in an unfavorable light. The reference to Caruso was probably somewhat exaggerated since the KHS guard is an intelligent, hard working, capable player, who merely became highly excited when he saw blood trickling from his scalp, following a collision with one of his own teammates. Caruso suffered a severe scalp wound in the stormy game that was highlighted by several other "incidents." He was unable to play in last night's intersectional game with Amsterdam because of the injury. We wish to apologize to Chil and the members of his family for any mental discomfort the account may have caused them.

Sollazzo Seeks Change of Venue

New York, March 10 (AP)—Salvadore Sollazzo, indicted in basketball's big fix scandal, may attempt to have his case tried outside of New York city.

His attorney, William Kleinman, says he is considering the possibility of seeking a change of venue for the case.

Kleinman told reporters yesterday that in New York city there was too much hysteria about the case and "trial by press." He asserted Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor had made "inflammatory" remarks about his client.

Sollazzo is accused on 13 counts of paying out approximately $45,000 in bribes to players of three colleges to "fix" games so he could win "sure" bets.

O'Connor had said that Sollazzo was "an intimate of notorious underworld figures" and would attempt to reach witnesses if released.

Kleinman also denied that threats had been made upon Sollazzo's life, as O'Connor contended.

Fourth Quarter Spurt Decides Local Contest

N.F.A. Meets Troy In Tonight's Feature

Kingston High's injury riddled basketball forces made a quick exit from the intersectionals last night, when Amsterdam High, an 11-5 team in its own conference, trounced the Maroons, 45 to 28.

With Leroy Hooker, Chil Caruso and Moll Leonard missing from the lineup for various reasons, Coach G. Warren Kias started Charlie Tiano, Nick Madison and Bones Hampton.

After edging ahead 28-25 early in the final quarter, Amsterdam nailed down the victory with only bold stroke of ten straight points. They outscored the Maroon, 20-4, in the stretch.

Center Sal De Vananzio hit for a pair of driving layups and Chuck Culver, substitute forward stormed through with three straight baskets. That moved Amsterdam ahead 38-25 and settled the issue then and there.

Scoreless For Quarter

Kingston stayed in the ball game while George Carpouzis was hitting. He accounted for 11 points in the first half and appeared headed for a big night, but his second half output totalled exactly zero.

Amsterdam held the Maroons scoreless from the field in the final period (and who can recall when that last happened to a Kingston team) and the Kiasmen didn't help themselves by blowing 10 out of 14 foul attempts.

Thus, K.H.S. bowed out with an overall seasonal record of 10 wins and 9 losses.

Wicks Bill Seeks $25,000 to Study Racing Setup

Court Ruling Hits Jockey Club As Ruling Agency

State Churches Throw Support to Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—A $25,000 state investigation of all phases of horse racing in New York is demanded by the majority leader of the Senate.

The proposal by Republican Arthur H. Wicks covers both flat and harness racing and betting.

Wicks introduced a resolution yesterday to authorize an extensive investigation by a seven-member joint legislative committee.

He acted a day after the State Court of Appeals declared unconstitutional New York's present licensing system for horse owners, jockeys and trainers.

The high court unanimously invalidated a section of a 17-year-old state law that specifically gave the Jockey Club, a private organization, authority to license horse owners, trainers and jockeys at running races.

The decision was not expected to have any effect on harness racing, which is controlled directly by the State Harness Racing Commission. But harness racing drew fire last night from the State Council of Churches.

The council's legislative committee urged the Legislature to approve a bill to give county supervisors of city legislative bodies veto power over applications for harness racing tracks.

The measure, the committee said, "appears to give the first step in control of what we believe to be a practice unsound in morals and economics."

Many Angles Involved

Wick's resolution said:

"There are involved in the regulation and control of racing, several moral, economic and technical questions which require extended research and study."

The proposed legislative committee would be directed to recommend any necessary changes in laws, rules or regulations affecting the sport.

The Court of Appeals' decision automatically voided licenses issued by the Jockey Club.

Governor Dewey's office said legislation to set up a new licensing system for running tracks would be introduced in the legislature next week.

The Council of Churches, in announcing support of the bill to veto applications for harness racing tracks, distributed a statement from a civic committee opposing a proposed harness tract at Collaner, near Syracuse.

The statement said the Council of Social Agencies of Syracuse and Onondaga county had urged Dewey to "throw his influence behind" the bill introduced by Republican Senator John H. Hughes of Syracuse.

A bitter fight erupted in central New York when Mid-State Raceway, Inc., applied for a state license to operate a track at Collaner. The Harness Racing Commission has not announced its decision on the application.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Jensen On Spot

Phoenix, March 10 (AP) — If Jackie Jensen wants to play the outfield for the New York Yankees he has to hit.

"I didn't say that I had definitely given up on him as a pitcher," Manager Casey Stengel said. "It looks like he would rather play the outfield, but if he can't hit he can't play the outfield for the Yankees. So he'd better hit."

Bankhead Due

Miami, March 10 (AP)—Dan Bankhead is due for a big year with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the opinion of Coach Clyde Sukeforth. And Dan himself says "don't know about winning 20 games, but I can tell you that my arm never felt better."

Lockman in Garden

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP) — Whitey Lockman temporarily will go back to playing the outfield instead of first base for the New York Giants.

"I'm satisfied that Whitey can play first base if an emergency comes up," Manager Leo Durocher explained. "But as of now Whitey goes back to left field and Monty Irvin is our first baseman."

McDermott Starts

Sarasota, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Youth will have a chance today when the Boston Red Sox open their exhibition game schedule here against the Cincinnati Reds.

Chuck Stobbs and Maurice McDermott are listed to pitch for the Hose whose leadoff man and center fielder will be Jimmy Piersall. The last was graduated less than four years ago from Waterbury, Conn., High School where he was a standout basketball and baseball player. Illness of his father forced him to forego college.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The story behind the March 14 "deadline" for a Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., kitty of $7,500 is this:

A group of industrial figures have pledged $5,000, IF Dave Popick's Committee of Ten can produce $7,500 in popular subscriptions by next Wednesday.

A member of the industrial group told us:

"We (he and small coterie of OB followers) have liquidated nearly $30,000 in baseball liens and debts since 1947. We don't spend a dime from here out, unless the citizens of Kingston furnish substantial evidence that they desire baseball. And they can do that by purchasing $10 shares of stock."

To us that is a sound, reasonable position. If Popick's workers can't come up with $7,500 after nearly five weeks of solicitations, the position of the fans is unmistakable. They just don't want organized ball anymore.

And the city can't expect a handful of public spirited, baseball-minded citizens to keep pumping blood into a dead horse. Next Wednesday's meeting is of grave significance to the future of the game in Kingston. If you rate yourself as just a good or average baseball fan, we urge that you buy a share of stock. We have complete faith in Canadian-American League baseball and believe the city will support a Can-Am franchise.

The most important item at the moment, however, is cold cash.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

• Of Men and Mice:

Beaverkill-Willowemoc Rod and Gun Club is marshalling strong support for the Mintz bill which would limit the use of certain fishing streams in Delaware, Ulster and Sullivan counties as a source of municipal water supply.

The bill is almost identical with that introduced last year by Senator Arthur H. Wicks. It passed both houses but was vetoed by Governor Dewey with the statement that:

"This bill would prevent the use of certain streams in the three counties as a source of municipal water supply. Such matters are within the discretion of the Water Power and Control Commission. In the absence of an adequate showing of need to deprive the Commission of its power with respect to these streams, the bill is disapproved. . . ."

Undaunted fishermen and outdoor lovers in that area have pressed their case. J. Fred Ackerly, the Beaverkill-Willowemoc president, says:

"In our opinion the Water Power and Control Commission should not have the responsibility to decide what is to be done with our streams. We believe that, too often, politics enter into their decision, causing them to make recommendations favorable to private and municipal interests. For this reason we seek protection for these streams through legislation."

Ackerly points out that a statement in the April-May issue of the New York Conservationist, which is the official organ of the New York State Conservation Department, reads:

"Representatives of the City of New York officially stated that the City is no longer interested in the development of the Little Delaware, the Beaverkill, or the Willowemoc as sources of water supply."

"This statement, attributed to the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York," Ackerly warns, "has lulled many conservationists into a feeling of false security on this issue. Under the present setup, with New York City urging defeat of the Mintz bill, the future of the streams lies in legislation. We urgently ask you to write your senator, assemblyman and the governor, requesting them to enact the Mintz bill.

Why waste spring training money on a guy like Rex Barney, who made his spring debut in mid-season form—five walks, six wild pitches.

Snead and Ferrier Lead Miami Open

Miami Beach, Fla., March 10 (AP)—The celebrities of the big-time golf circuit were beginning to apply the pressure today in the $10,000 Miami Beach Open tournament.

As the 72-hole meet at the Normandy Isle course entered the third round, two old warhorses, Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, were on top, three strokes ahead of the nearest opposition with 134s.

They matched the competitive record for the course with seven-under-par 65s in yesterday's second round to rocket from a 13th place tie all the way up to the lead, replacing several lesser known players who had dominated the first round.

Al Bosch of Garden City, L. I., a 39-year-old veteran of the tournaments but a comparative small-timer in cash winnings, dropped from first place, which he had won with his first-round 66, into a six-way tie for third.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Yes, sir, it's true. This ski slide is the side of a barn roof. The skier is 65-year-old Arnt Bye, who farms ten miles south of Moorhead, Minn. He improvised the slide three years ago when sliding down haystacks got too tame. To complete the slide, Bye uses a tractor-powered snowplow to pile snow against the side of the barn. When the snow is right, he gets a quarter-mile run. (AP Wirephoto)

Billikens In Opener

New York, March 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Billikens, one of two teams able to take the measure of mighty Kentucky this season, will meet LaSalle tonight in the feature opening round game of the National Invitation Basketball tournament. Ed Hickey's hot-and-cold outfit, with a 21-7 overall season record and No. 10 national ranking, might well prove the overlooked entry in Ned Irish's 14th hoop party at Madison Square Garden.

Layne Points For Charles, Marciano After Garden Kayo

New York, March 10 (AP) — Rugged Rex Layne set his sights on either heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles or undefeated Rocky Marciano today. No matter who he gets, don't sell him short.

The so-called "smart guys" sold him short last night and they're still paying off as the result of Layne's sensational technical knockout victory over Belting Bob Satterfield in 2:56 of the eighth round of a Madison Square Garden ten rounder.

Utah's pride and joy, undefeated in a year and listed fourth in the NBA rankings, was made the 9 to 5 underdog against the Chicago Negro, rated one of the hardest hitters in the ring today.

He sampled some of Bob's block-busting rights, went down for eight in the first round, and then came back to wreck Satterfield with a barrage of his own right hand wallops.

After a pulsating seventh round, in which both fighters were rocked by terrific blows, Layne laid out his rival with a crackling right to the jaw. Down on his back went Satterfield for nine. When he climbed groggily to his feet, Layne smashed him to the ropes with a left and right to the head and Bob was helpless. Referee Mark Conn immediately stopped the fight.

Crowd With Him

The slim crowd of 5,981 (gross gate $19,647) gave Layne a roaring ovation, unlike the chilly reception he received after beating Cesar Brion here Feb. 9.

"Now we want either Charles or Marciano," said Manager Marv Jenson.

"I'll fight anybody," said Layne.

If he wants, Layne has a willing opponent in Joe Louis, former heavyweight champion.

"Since Layne also beat Joe Walcott and since Ezzard Charles will be out of action two months, I'll meet Yayne anywhere," Louis said.

Wilt Threatens World Record

New York, March 10 (AP)—"Why didn't they tell me I was so close?"

That was Fred Wilt's lament last night after he had almost smashed the two-mile indoor record in the New York Pioneer track and field championships at the 369th Regiment Armory. His time of 9:03.7 was just three tenths of a second slower than the mark established by Walter Mehl of Wisconsin on the flat track back in 1940.

"Although I turned in a fast mile"—Wilt was timed in 4:26.6 at the half-way mark—"I never knew I was that close going into the gun lap."

Roscoe Browne of the host New York Pioneer Club ran the 880 in 1:57.1 and teammate Reggie Pearman the 600-yards in 1:12.7.

An Apology

The Freeman sports department regrets that its account of the KHS-Middletown DUSO basketball game of March 2 placed Chil Caruso, KHS guard, in an unfavorable light. The reference to Caruso was probably somewhat exaggerated since the KHS guard is an intelligent, hard working, capable player, who merely became highly excited when he saw blood trickling from his scalp, following a collision with one of his own teammates. Caruso suffered a severe scalp wound in the stormy game that was highlighted by several other "incidents." He was unable to play in last night's intersectional game with Amsterdam because of the injury. We wish to apologize to Chil and the members of his family for any mental discomfort the account may have caused them.

Sollazzo Seeks Change of Venue

New York, March 10 (AP)—Salvadore Sollazzo, indicted in basketball's big fix scandal, may attempt to have his case tried outside of New York city.

His attorney, William Kleinman, says he is considering the possibility of seeking a change of venue for the case.

Kleinman told reporters yesterday that in New York city there was too much hysteria about the case and "trial by press." He asserted Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor had made "inflammatory" remarks about his client.

These remarks, Kleinman said, were contained in O'Connor's statements yesterday at the arraignment of Sollazzo, who was held without bail.

Sollazzo is accused on 13 counts of paying out approximately $45,000 in bribes to players of three colleges to "fix" games so he could win "sure" bets.

O'Connor had said that Sollazzo was "an intimate of notorious underworld figures" and would attempt to reach witnesses if released.

Kleinman also denied that threats had been made upon Sollazzo's life, as O'Connor contended.

Amsterdam High Eliminates Kingston From Intersectionals, 45-28

Fourth Quarter Spurt Decides Local Contest

N.F.A. Meets Troy In Tonight's Feature

Kingston High's injury riddled basketball forces made a quick exit from the intersectionals last night, when Amsterdam High, an 11-5 team in its own conference, trounced the Maroons, 45 to 28.

With Leroy Hooker, Chil Caruso and Moll Leonard missing from the lineup for various reasons, Coach G. Warren Kias started Charlie Tiano, Nick Madison and Bones Hampton.

In a raggedly played game, the hard fighting Maroons managed to stay within a point of the visitors, 25-24, at the end of three periods.

After edging ahead 28-25 early in the final quarter, Amsterdam nailed down the victory with only bold stroke of ten straight points. They outscored the Maroon, 20-4, in the stretch.

Center Sal De Vananzio hit for a pair of driving layups and Chuck Culver, substitute forward stormed through with three straight baskets. That moved Amsterdam ahead 38-25 and settled the issue then and there.

Scoreless For Quarter

Kingston stayed in the ball game while George Carpouzis was hitting. He accounted for 11 points in the first half and appeared headed for a big night, but his second half output totalled exactly zero.

Amsterdam held the Maroons scoreless from the field in the final period (and who can recall when that last happened to a Kingston team) and the Kiasmen didn't help themselves by blowing 10 out of 14 foul attempts.

Sal DeVananzio, a smooth working center, led the visitors with 14 points, while Gus Mihalzo hit with 12 from a guard position.

Carpouzis' 11 first half points were high for Kingston. Bones Hampton picked up seven.

Thus, K.H.S. bowed out with an overall seasonal record of 10 wins and 9 losses.

Wicks Bill Seeks $25,000 to Study Racing Setup

Court Ruling Hits Jockey Club As Ruling Agency

State Churches Throw Support to Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—A $25,000 state investigation of all phases of horse racing in New York is demanded by the majority leader of the Senate.

The proposal by Republican Arthur H. Wicks covers both flat and harness racing and betting.

Wicks introduced a resolution yesterday to authorize an extensive investigation by a seven-member joint legislative committee.

He acted a day after the State Court of Appeals declared unconstitutional New York's present licensing system for horse owners, jockeys and trainers.

The high court unanimously invalidated a section of a 17-year-old state law that specifically gave the Jockey Club, a private organization, authority to license horse owners, trainers and jockeys at running races.

The decision was not expected to have any effect on harness racing, which is controlled directly by the State Harness Racing Commission. But harness racing drew fire last night from the State Council of Churches.

The council's legislative committee urged the Legislature to approve a bill to give county supervisors of city legislative bodies veto power over applications for harness racing tracks.

The measure, the committee said, "appears to give the first step in control of what we believe to be a practice unsound in morals and economics."

Many Angles Involved

Wick's resolution said:

"There are involved in the regulation and control of racing, several moral, economic and technical questions which require extended research and study."

The proposed legislative committee would be directed to recommend any necessary changes in laws, rules or regulations affecting the sport.

The Court of Appeals' decision automatically voided licenses issued by the Jockey Club.

Governor Dewey's office said legislation to set up a new licensing system for running tracks would be introduced in the legislature next week.

The Council of Churches, in announcing support of the bill to veto applications for harness racing tracks, distributed a statement from a civic committee opposing a proposed harness tract at Collaner, near Syracuse.

The statement said the Council of Social Agencies of Syracuse and Onondaga county had urged Dewey to "throw his influence behind" the bill introduced by Republican Senator John H. Hughes of Syracuse.

A bitter fight erupted in central New York when Mid-State Raceway, Inc., applied for a state license to operate a track at Collaner. The Harness Racing Commission has not announced its decision on the application.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Jensen On Spot

Phoenix, March 10 (AP) — If Jackie Jensen wants to play the outfield for the New York Yankees he has to hit.

"I didn't say that I had definitely given up on him as a pitcher," Manager Casey Stengel said. "It looks like he would rather play the outfield, but if he can't hit he can't play the outfield for the Yankees. So he'd better hit."

Bankhead Due

Miami, March 10 (AP)—Dan Bankhead is due for a big year with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the opinion of Coach Clyde Sukeforth. And Dan himself says "don't know about winning 20 games, but I can tell you that my arm never felt better."

Lockman in Garden

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP) — Whitey Lockman temporarily will go back to playing the outfield instead of first base for the New York Giants.

"I'm satisfied that Whitey can play first base if an emergency comes up," Manager Leo Durocher explained. "But as of now Whitey goes back to left field and Monty Irvin is our first baseman."

McDermott Starts

Sarasota, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Youth will have a chance today when the Boston Red Sox open their exhibition game schedule here against the Cincinnati Reds.

Chuck Stobbs and Maurice McDermott are listed to pitch for the Hose whose leadoff man and center fielder will be Jimmy Piersall. The last was graduated less than four years ago from Waterbury, Conn., High School where he was a standout basketball and baseball player. Illness of his father forced him to forego college.

The story behind the March 14 "deadline" for a Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., kitty of $7,500 is this:

A group of industrial figures have pledged $5,000, IF Dave Popick's Committee of Ten can produce $7,500 in popular subscriptions by next Wednesday.

A member of the industrial group told us:

"We (he and small coterie of OB followers) have liquidated nearly $30,000 in baseball liens and debts since 1947. We don't spend a dime from here out, unless the citizens of Kingston furnish substantial evidence that they desire baseball. And they can do that by purchasing $10 shares of stock."

To us that is a sound, reasonable position. If Popick's workers can't come up with $7,500 after nearly five weeks of solicitations, the position of the fans is unmistakable. They just don't want organized ball anymore.

And the city can't expect a handful of public spirited, baseball-minded citizens to keep pumping blood into a dead horse. Next Wednesday's meeting is of grave significance to the future of the game in Kingston. If you rate yourself as just a good or average baseball fan, we urge that you buy a share of stock. We have complete faith in Canadian-American League baseball and believe the city will support a Can-Am franchise.

The most important item at the moment, however, is cold cash.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

First bowling champions of the season: Ted Gile Sr.'s Broadway Flower Shoppe in the Junior Major League. Robert Cutler season's first winner of the KBA medal with a 268. . . . "Bud" Fromer plans to have two trotters in action at Saratoga this summer and will drive one of the sulkies himself. . . . Adirondack Trailways making another late season bid for the HVBL pennant. . . . Clark Mains in boot training with Navy at Newport, R. I. . . . Ezzard Charles politely avoided rating Joe Walcott and Joe Louis with the remark: "I don't want to be an authority. Too many fighters are trying to be authorities." He wouldn't mean Joe Louis, would he? . . . With Leo Durocher's spring outfield experiment with Clint "The Pheenom" Hartung grabbing the spring training headlines, wasn't it time for Branch Rickey to come up with such silly ideas as Ralph Kiner on first; Pete Reiser behind the plate and a left-handed catcher! ....

• Of Men and Mice:

Beaverkill-Willowemoc Rod and Gun Club is marshalling strong support for the Mintz bill which would limit the use of certain fishing streams in Delaware, Ulster and Sullivan counties as a source of municipal water supply.

The bill is almost identical with that introduced last year by Senator Arthur H. Wicks. It passed both houses but was vetoed by Governor Dewey with the statement that:

"This bill would prevent the use of certain streams in the three counties as a source of municipal water supply. Such matters are within the discretion of the Water Power and Control Commission. In the absence of an adequate showing of need to deprive the Commission of its power with respect to these streams, the bill is disapproved. . . ."

Undaunted fishermen and outdoor lovers in that area have pressed their case. J. Fred Ackerly, the Beaverkill-Willowemoc president, says:

"In our opinion the Water Power and Control Commission should not have the responsibility to decide what is to be done with our streams. We believe that, too often, politics enter into their decision, causing them to make recommendations favorable to private and municipal interests. For this reason we seek protection for these streams through legislation."

Ackerly points out that a statement in the April-May issue of the New York Conservationist, which is the official organ of the New York State Conservation Department, reads:

"Representatives of the City of New York officially stated that the City is no longer interested in the development of the Little Delaware, the Beaverkill, or the Willowemoc as sources of water supply."

"This statement, attributed to the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York," Ackerly warns, "has lulled many conservationists into a feeling of false security on this issue. Under the present setup, with New York City urging defeat of the Mintz bill, the future of the streams lies in legislation. We urgently ask you to write your senator, assemblyman and the governor, requesting them to enact the Mintz bill.

Why waste spring training money on a guy like Rex Barney, who made his spring debut in mid-season form—five walks, six wild pitches.

Last Quarter Drive Assures Victory

K.H.S. Jayvees had to stage a fourth period spurt to defeat a hard fighting M.J.M. All Star quintet, 52-42, last night in the preliminary at the municipal auditorium.

It was touch and go for three quarters, with the M.J.M. five leading 13-11 at the quarter and the Jayvees forging ahead 22-19 at halftime.

Snead and Ferrier Lead Miami Open

Miami Beach, Fla., March 10 (AP)—The celebrities of the big-time golf circuit were beginning to apply the pressure today in the $10,000 Miami Beach Open tournament.

As the 72-hole meet at the Normandy Isle course entered the third round, two old warhorses, Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, were on top, three strokes ahead of the nearest opposition with 134s.

They matched the competitive record for the course with seven-under-par 65s in yesterday's second round to rocket from a 13th place tie all the way up to the lead, replacing several lesser known players who had dominated the first round.

Al Bosch of Garden City, L. I., a 39-year-old veteran of the tournaments but a comparative small-timer in cash winnings, dropped from first place, which he had won with his first-round 66, into a six-way tie for third.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Yes, sir, it's true. This ski slide is the side of a barn roof. The skier is 65-year-old Arnt Bye, who farms ten miles south of Moorhead, Minn. He improvised the slide three years ago when sliding down haystacks got too tame. To complete the slide, Bye uses a tractor-powered snowplow to pile snow against the side of the barn. When the snow is right, he gets a quarter-mile run. (AP Wirephoto)

Layne Points For Charles, Marciano After Garden Kayo

New York, March 10 (AP) — Rugged Rex Layne set his sights on either heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles or undefeated Rocky Marciano today. No matter who he gets, don't sell him short.

The so-called "smart guys" sold him short last night and they're still paying off as the result of Layne's sensational technical knockout victory over Belting Bob Satterfield in 2:56 of the eighth round of a Madison Square Garden ten rounder.

Utah's pride and joy, undefeated in a year and listed fourth in the NBA rankings, was made the 9 to 5 underdog against the Chicago Negro, rated one of the hardest hitters in the ring today.

He sampled some of Bob's block-busting rights, went down for eight in the first round, and then came back to wreck Satterfield with a barrage of his own right hand wallops.

After a pulsating seventh round, in which both fighters were rocked by terrific blows, Layne laid out his rival with a crackling right to the jaw. Down on his back went Satterfield for nine. When he climbed groggily to his feet, Layne smashed him to the ropes with a left and right to the head and Bob was helpless. Referee Mark Conn immediately stopped the fight.

Crowd With Him

The slim crowd of 5,981 (gross gate $19,647) gave Layne a roaring ovation, unlike the chilly reception he received after beating Cesar Brion here Feb. 9.

"Now we want either Charles or Marciano," said Manager Marv Jenson.

"I'll fight anybody," said Layne.

If he wants, Layne has a willing opponent in Joe Louis, former heavyweight champion.

"Since Layne also beat Joe Walcott and since Ezzard Charles will be out of action two months, I'll meet Yayne anywhere," Louis said.

Wilt Threatens World Record

New York, March 10 (AP)—"Why didn't they tell me I was so close?"

That was Fred Wilt's lament last night after he had almost smashed the two-mile indoor record in the New York Pioneer track and field championships at the 369th Regiment Armory. His time of 9:03.7 was just three tenths of a second slower than the mark established by Walter Mehl of Wisconsin on the flat track back in 1940.

"Although I turned in a fast mile"—Wilt was timed in 4:26.6 at the half-way mark—"I never knew I was that close going into the gun lap."

Roscoe Browne of the host New York Pioneer Club ran the 880 in 1:57.1 and teammate Reggie Pearman the 600-yards in 1:12.7.

Larry Ellis of New York U. won the mile in 4:17.4, tying the meet record set by Tom Quinn of the New York A.C. in 1948.

Ferraro Trails By Five Points

Cy's Diner of Newburgh holds a three-game edge in the lost column over Adirondack Trailways and Newburgh Johnnys, as Hudson Valley League keglers come roaring down the 1950-51 seasonal stretch.

The Diners, who dropped three to the Trailways here last Sunday, have won 54 games and lost 18 and have the highest team average of 969. Trailways have a 51-21 team record and 967 game average.

Hank Kuykendall, of the Ellenville VFW, has moved into third place with 197.46. Other top average keglers are: Hank Kemmerer, Trailways, 194.62; Wally Gerken, Newburgh Johnnys, 194.38; Tony Mack, Cy's Diner, 192.63.

Among Kingston keglers, Johnny Schatzel retains 192.49; Harold Broskie, 191.8; and Steve Leone, 190.4. Angie Ferraro is hitting 194.1 for 40 games with the Trailways.

Trailway keglers set two new seasonal records last week, with Harold Broskie's 289 and a team triple of 3227. Miron Lumber's 1165 is team high single, while Nick Leoce's 743 leads the individual triple department.

Billikens In Opener

New York, March 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Billikens, one of two teams able to take the measure of mighty Kentucky this season, will meet LaSalle tonight in the feature opening round game of the National Invitation Basketball tournament. Ed Hickey's hot-and-cold outfit, with a 21-7 overall season record and No. 10 national ranking, might well prove the overlooked entry in Ned Irish's 14th hoop party at Madison Square Garden.

An Apology

The Freeman sports department regrets that its account of the KHS-Middletown DUSO basketball game of March 2 placed Chil Caruso, KHS guard, in an unfavorable light. The reference to Caruso was probably somewhat exaggerated since the KHS guard is an intelligent, hard working, capable player, who merely became highly excited when he saw blood trickling from his scalp, following a collision with one of his own teammates. Caruso suffered a severe scalp wound in the stormy game that was highlighted by several other "incidents." He was unable to play in last night's intersectional game with Amsterdam because of the injury. We wish to apologize to Chil and the members of his family for any mental discomfort the account may have caused them.

Sollazzo Seeks Change of Venue

New York, March 10 (AP)—Salvadore Sollazzo, indicted in basketball's big fix scandal, may attempt to have his case tried outside of New York city.

His attorney, William Kleinman, says he is considering the possibility of seeking a change of venue for the case.

Kleinman told reporters yesterday that in New York city there was too much hysteria about the case and "trial by press." He asserted Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor had made "inflammatory" remarks about his client.

These remarks, Kleinman said, were contained in O'Connor's statements yesterday at the arraignment of Sollazzo, who was held without bail.

Sollazzo is accused on 13 counts of paying out approximately $45,000 in bribes to players of three colleges to "fix" games so he could win "sure" bets.

O'Connor had said that Sollazzo was "an intimate of notorious underworld figures" and would attempt to reach witnesses if released.

Kleinman also denied that threats had been made upon Sollazzo's life, as O'Connor contended.

On Tuesday night, St. Mary's of Winona, Minnesota Conference runner-up, goes against Iona of New Rochelle, N. Y., and LeMoyne of Syracuse faces St. Michael's, Vermont state champion.

Trinity Cagers Down Stone Ridge, 53 to 36

Trinity Lutheran's basketeers rolled to an easy 53 to 36 victory over Stone Ridge Thursday night at the Stone Ridge boards.

Leading the attack for the winners were D. Gollnick, son of the pastor, who hit 18 markers and R. Marks and D. Wolff, who followed with 13 and 12 respectively.

Trinity held a 24 to 18 edge at halftime.

The scores:

Trinity Lutheran (53) — R. Marks, f, 6-1-13; Eckert, f, 3-0-6; Wolff, c, 5-2-12; Gollnick, g, 9-0-18; B. Marks, g, 2-0-4.

Fourth Quarter Spurt Decides Local Contest

N.F.A. Meets Troy In Tonight's Feature

Kingston High's injury riddled basketball forces made a quick exit from the intersectionals last night, when Amsterdam High, an 11-5 team in its own conference, trounced the Maroons, 45 to 28.

With Leroy Hooker, Chil Caruso and Moll Leonard missing from the lineup for various reasons, Coach G. Warren Kias started Charlie Tiano, Nick Madison and Bones Hampton.

In a raggedly played game, the hard fighting Maroons managed to stay withinn a point of the visitors, 25-24, at the end of three periods.

After edging ahead 28-25 early in the final quarter, Amsterdam nailed down the victory with only bold stroke of ten straight points. They outscored the Maroon, 20-4, in the stretch.

Center Sal De Vananzio hit for a pair of driving layups and Chuck Culver, substitute forward stormed through with three straight baskets. That moved Amsterdam ahead 38-25 and settled the issue then and there.

Scoreless For Quarter

Kingston stayed in the ball game while George Carpouzis was hitting. He accounted for 11 points in the first half and appeared headed for a big night, but his second half output totalled exactly zero.

Amsterdam held the Maroons scoreless from the field in the final period (and who can recall when that last happened to a Kingston team) and the Kiasmen didn't help themselves by blowing 10 out of 14 foul attempts.

Sal DeVananzio, a smooth working center, led the visitors with 14 points, while Gus Mihalzo hit with 12 from a guard position.

Carpouzis' 11 first half points were high for Kingston. Bones Hampton picked up seven.

Thus, K.H.S. bowed out with an overall seasonal record of 10 wins and 9 losses.

Witnesses Missing

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Earl Browder apparently will have to get along without some of the witnesses he wants in his contempt of Congress trial—seven senators and an ex-senator. Browder got out subpoenas for the eight. Marshals reported back yesterday that former Senator Tydings (D-Md.) was in England, and the others "not to be found." Whether the marshals actually could find the senators, or the senators merely exercised a prerogative to ignore such things as subpoenas during a session of Congress was not made clear. Browder has never said what he wanted to ask the lawmakers.

Witnesses Missing

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Earl Browder apparently will have to get along without some of the witnesses he wants in his contempt of Congress trial—seven senators and an ex-senator. Browder got out subpoenas for the eight. Marshals reported back yesterday that former Senator Tydings (D-Md.) was in England, and the others "not to be found." Whether the marshals actually could find find the senators, or the senators merely exercised a prerogative to ignore such things as subpoenas during a session of Congress was not made clear. Browder has never said what he wanted to ask the lawmakers.

Witnesses Missing

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Earl Browder apparently will have to get along without some of the witnesses he wants in his contempt of Congress trial—seven senators and an ex-senator. Browder got out subpoenas for the eight. Marshals reported back yesterday that former Senator Tydings (D-Md.) was in England, and the others "not to be found." Whether the marshals actually could find find the senators, or the senators merely exercised a prerogative to ignore such things as subpoenas during a session of Congress was not made clear. Browder has never said what he wanted to ask the lawmakers.

Replaces Bevin

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morison has been appointed new British Foreign Secretary. He replaces Ernest Bevin, foreign secretary since the Labor government came into power in 1945, who resigned because of ill health. (NEA Telephoto).

Chinese Reds . . .

Five to eight miles east of Hoengsong, U. S. Second Division doughboys scattered Communists holding ridges.

On the eastern flank, South Korean Fifth Division troops forced the Reds to retreat after heavy fighting throughout Saturday morning. The ROKs gained more than one mile.

Death Toll Mounts

The toll of Communist dead mounted on the fourth day of the new Allied offensive.

In three days, United Nations troops have killed or wounded more than 24,000 Reds. The U. S. Eighth Army said 6,849 Reds were killed or wounded Friday.

U. S. Fifth Air Force pilots reported they inflicted 400 Communist troop casualties along the front Saturday.

Low visibility delayed the start of the air force operations, but by 6 p. m. (4 a. m., E.S.T.) fighter and light bomber pilots had flown 520 sorties.

The air blows were aimed at 25 villages along the Red supply line.

Troops-for-Europe

posal of the House Republicans goes much farther than do two resolutions to be debated next week by the Senate. The Senate measures would not have the binding effect of a law, since one of them is a simple resolution requiring only Senate approval and the other is a concurrent resolution requiring approval by both chambers but merely expressing a sentiment and not prescribing a law.

House opponents of the Republican plan claimed privately it could endanger the entire draft law. They based this argument on their contention that the Constitution gives the President, as commander-in-chief, sole power to deploy troops even though Congress alone can declare war. An unconstitutional amendment to the draft law, they argued, might knock out the whole law.

Compromise Wage

not yet shown up, officials said, but NPA will be ready to act if it does.

4. Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson announced creation of a new "committee on defense transportation and storage" to coordinate rail, sea, highway and air transport during the emergency. He is expected to designate the chairman next week.

Love for Dope Halts Couple's Altar Plans

New York, March 10 (AP)—A craving for narcotics probably will send two childhood sweethearts to jail instead of the altar.

Bronx District Attorney George B. DeLuca told this story:

They intended to marry, but several years ago developed the dope habit.

They tried in vain to break the habit. Then they committed 25 to 30 Bronx burglaries — since last October—to get money to buy morphine. The couple was arrested last night on burglarly charges.

Said DeLuca: "Another tragic illustration of young lives wrecked by dope addiction."

Reports Articles Stolen

Dr. Saul Goldfarb of 222 Pearl street reported the theft from the glove compartment of his automobile of a 35 mm Argus camera valued at $100, prescription sunglasses worth $20, and a trouble light cord valued at $5. Dr. Goldfarb told police the articles were apparently taken sometime between 7:45 p. m. and 9:15 p. m. Friday, while the automobile was parked on Abeel street near the Rondout creek bridge. He was attending Temple Emanuel at the time, he said.

Navy 'Blue Angel' Dead

San Diego, Calif., March 10 (AP)—The famed "Blue Angel" of navy air fame, Lt. Cmdr. John J. Magda, Jr., 33, is dead. Pacific fleet air headquarters announced here yesterday that Magda was killed in action off Tanchon, Korea, but said the exact manner of his death was not yet reported.

Watchman's Fire Is Mistaken as Serious

A small fire maintained by a night watchman at the Washington school under construction on Wall street near Henry was mistaken twice early this morning for a more serious fire. The purpose of the small fire was to keep the sand used in the construction work dry.

The police department received a report of the fire at 3:29 a. m. today, and Patrolmen Walter Van Steenburgh and Myer Levy reported after an inspection that the fire was under control.

Other fire department calls included a grass fire at 216 Wilbur avenue at 1:44 p. m. Friday, an automobile fire near 54 Elizabeth street at 11:28 p. m., and a false alarm from Box 4121 near No. 7 School at 4:02 p. m. Friday.

Po'keepsie Woman Injured in Crash

Mrs. Linford G. Snyder, 28, of 208 North Hamilton street, Poughkeepsie, was injured about 3 a. m. today when the automobile she was driving jumped a guard rail and plunged down a 20-foot embankment on Route 9W two miles north of the Highland traffic circle.

State police said Mrs. Snyder was taken to Vassar Hospital by an unknown motorist. She suffered abrasions and contusions and possible fractures of the left leg, pelvis, hip and ribs, according to the state police report. A passenger, Mrs. Marion Lattin, 28, of Oberocker road, Poughkeepsie, was apparently uninjured, troopers reported.

The automobile was traveling south and in making a curve the wheels brushed against the curb of the center island, causing the driver to lose control of the vehicle, troopers reported. The car jumped the island, struck a guard rail, continued through the rail and down a 20-foot embankment, coming to rest on its top, state police said.

Radio, TV Stars Will Salute Girl Scouts

The Jack Benny radio show on Sunday night and the Howdy Doody TV program Monday night, will carry greetings to Girl Scouts in celebration of their 39th anniversary which is being observed from March 5 to March 12, it was announced during a meeting of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council Friday night.

During last night's meeting, Commissioner Mrs. Everett Cody led the session. Reports from various Council members were heard including plans by the Warwarsing District Girl Scout Troop for their Juilette Low birthday party March 13.

Wife Stood Him Up

Inglewood, Calif., March 10 (AP)—Sgt. Robert T. Carrington discovered that the competition is tough when you're in the army. He told a judge that his wife, Shirley Jean, insisted that he call her for a date before coming home from Camp Cooke on a pass. He didn't like it, but he complied. He got the date, but his wife stood him up. That, he told the court, constitutes cruelty. The court agreed. The sergeant was granted a divorce yesterday.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 10—Shokan Reformed Church notes: The Ladies' Aid Society met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Burton Tandy. Members made final plans for a baked ham supper, Tuesday evening, March 13, in the church basement. The group will serve refreshments following the annual congregational meeting of the church March 21. April meeting of the society is scheduled to take place at the church Wednesday afternoon, April 4, with Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen as guest speaker and Mrs. Frank Barringer hostess for the day. The date for the annual fair and supper has been set for August 8.

Wolfgang Adels, who left Ashokan in January for army service, is reported to have been transferred from Fort Dix to a camp in Georgia.

Lewis Haulenbeck, Woodland Valley farmer and lumberman, was a caller here Thursday. Lewis reports that ice and snow is still hampering work in the mountain woodlots.

Roger W. Riley is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga. The young soldier is the son of Mrs. Loren Riley the former Hazel Boice of Shokan.

The Edwin H. Marshes, one of the upper Esopus Valley's best known couples, have sold their place near the crate mill at Big Indian to Honore Martin and are now making their home at the King Anderson residence.

Having a birthday Monday, March 12, is Harry Weeks of the Onteora Trail. Harry, a retired New York city department of sanitation employe, is a native of Long Island. He and Mrs. Weeks bought the Jane Stubley place and came here in 1941. . . . Another birthday falling on Monday is that of Harry Lee, formerly of Shokan and Glenford and for many years a resident of Kingston.

City people are beginning to come around, looking for summer and retirement places to buy. Some local observers are inclined to think there will be quite a realty turnover this spring, though not, of course, anything like the vernal booms of several years ago. —Who among the readers recalls the days of whopping big land deals; like the sale, in 1886, of 1,000 acres in Traver Hollow by Alonzo Patchin of Boiceville to John C. Hoornbeck, Wawarsing timber products tycoon?

Shot After Dance

Stamford, Conn., March 10 (AP)—A 30-year-old Stamford woman was shot and instantly killed early today. Police say her husband admitted the slaying. Acting Police Sgt. James Cassidy said that James Harris, 35-year-old factory worker walked into police headquarters at 2:47 this morning. He quoted Harris as saying: "I have just killed my wife with a shotgun." Police quoted Harris as saying he was jealous of his wife because she was "playing around with another guy" at a dance.

Po'keepsie Woman Injured in Crash

Mrs. Linford G. Snyder, 28, of 208 North Hamilton street, Poughkeepsie, was injured about 3 a. m. today when the automobile she was driving jumped a guard rail and plunged down a 20-foot embankment on Route 9W two miles north of the Highland traffic circle.

State police said Mrs. Snyder was taken to Vassar Hospital by an unknown motorist. She suffered abrasions and contusions and possible fractures of the left leg, pelvis, hip and ribs, according to the state police report. A passenger, Mrs. Marion Lattin, 28, of Oberocker road, Poughkeepsie, was apparently uninjured, troopers reported.

The automobile was traveling south and in making a curve the wheels brushed against the curb of the center island, causing the driver to lose control of the vehicle, troopers reported. The car jumped the island, struck a guard rail, continued through the rail and down a 20-foot embankment, coming to rest on its top, state police said.

Radio, TV Stars Will Salute Girl Scouts

The Jack Benny radio show on Sunday night and the Howdy Doody TV program Monday night, will carry greetings to Girl Scouts in celebration of their 39th anniversary which is being observed from March 5 to March 12, it was announced during a meeting of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council Friday night.

During last night's meeting, Commissioner Mrs. Everett Cody led the session. Reports from various Council members were heard including plans by the Warwarsing District Girl Scout Troop for their Juilette Low birthday party March 13.

Wife Stood Him Up

Inglewood, Calif., March 10 (AP)—Sgt. Robert T. Carrington discovered that the competition is tough when you're in the army. He told a judge that his wife, Shirley Jean, insisted that he call her for a date before coming home from Camp Cooke on a pass. He didn't like it, but he complied. He got the date, but his wife stood him up. That, he told the court, constitutes cruelty. The court agreed. The sergeant was granted a divorce yesterday.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 10—Shokan Reformed Church notes: The Ladies' Aid Society met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Burton Tandy. Members made final plans for a baked ham supper, Tuesday evening, March 13, in the church basement. The group will serve refreshments following the annual congregational meeting of the church March 21. April meeting of the society is scheduled to take place at the church Wednesday afternoon, April 4, with Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen as guest speaker and Mrs. Frank Barringer hostess for the day. The date for the annual fair and supper has been set for August 8.

Wolfgang Adels, who left Ashokan in January for army service, is reported to have been transferred from Fort Dix to a camp in Georgia.

Lewis Haulenbeck, Woodland Valley farmer and lumberman, was a caller here Thursday. Lewis reports that ice and snow is still hampering work in the mountain woodlots.

Roy Wanzor of Lake Katrine was numbered among the recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country.

Roger W. Riley is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga. The young soldier is the son of Mrs. Loren Riley the former Hazel Boice of Shokan.

The Edwin H. Marshes, one of the upper Esopus Valley's best known couples, have sold their place near the crate mill at Big Indian to Honore Martin and are now making their home at the King Anderson residence.

Having a birthday Monday, March 12, is Harry Weeks of the Onteora Trail. Harry, a retired New York city department of sanitation employe, is a native of Long Island. He and Mrs. Weeks bought the Jane Stubley place and came here in 1941. . . . Another birthday falling on Monday is that of Harry Lee, formerly of Shokan and Glenford and for many years a resident of Kingston.

City people are beginning to come around, looking for summer and retirement places to buy. Some local observers are inclined to think there will be quite a realty turnover this spring, though not, of course, anything like the vernal booms of several years ago. —Who among the readers recalls the days of whopping big land deals; like the sale, in 1886, of 1,000 acres in Traver Hollow by Alonzo Patchin of Boiceville to John C. Hoornbeck, Wawarsing timber products tycoon?

Replaces Bevin

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morison has been appointed new British Foreign Secretary. He replaces Ernest Bevin, foreign secretary since the Labor government came into power in 1945, who resigned because of ill health. (NEA Telephoto).

Chinese Reds . . .

Five to eight miles east of Hoengsong, U. S. Second Division doughboys scattered Communists holding ridges.

On the eastern flank, South Korean Fifth Division troops forced the Reds to retreat after heavy fighting throughout Saturday morning. The ROKs gained more than one mile.

Death Toll Mounts

In three days, United Nations troops have killed or wounded more than 24,000 Reds. The U. S. Eighth Army said 6,849 Reds were killed or wounded Friday.

U. S. Fifth Air Force pilots reported they inflicted 400 Communist troop casualties along the front Saturday.

Low visibility delayed the start of the air force operations, but by 6 p. m. (4 a. m., E.S.T.) fighter and light bomber pilots had flown 520 sorties.

Pilots reported they destroyed one tank, 150 buildings, 46 vehicles, five railroad cars, two gun emplacements, a supply dump and a railroad bridge.

The air blows were aimed at 25 villages along the Red supply line.

Troops-for-Europe

posal of the House Republicans goes much farther than do two resolutions to be debated next week by the Senate. The Senate measures would not have the binding effect of a law, since one of them is a simple resolution requiring only Senate approval and the other is a concurrent resolution requiring approval by both chambers but merely expressing a sentiment and not prescribing a law.

House opponents of the Republican plan claimed privately it could endanger the entire draft law. They based this argument on their contention that the Constitution gives the President, as commander-in-chief, sole power to deploy troops even though Congress alone can declare war. An unconstitutional amendment to the draft law, they argued, might knock out the whole law.

Compromise Wage

not yet shown up, officials said, but NPA will be ready to act if it does.

4. Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson announced creation of a new "committee on defense transportation and storage" to coordinate rail, sea, highway and air transport during the emergency. He is expected to designate the chairman next week.

Love for Dope Halts Couple's Altar Plans

New York, March 10 (AP)—A craving for narcotics probably will send two childhood sweethearts to jail instead of the altar.

Bronx District Attorney George B. DeLuca told this story:

Stanley Jacobs, 23, a merchant seaman, and Rhoda Feinberg, 24, have been going together since childhood.

They intended to marry, but several years ago developed the dope habit.

They tried in vain to break the habit. Then they committed 25 to 30 Bronx burglaries — since last October—to get money to buy morphine. The couple was arrested last night on burglarly charges.

Said DeLuca: "Another tragic illustration of young lives wrecked by dope addiction."

Reports Articles Stolen

Dr. Saul Goldfarb of 222 Pearl street reported the theft from the glove compartment of his automobile of a 35 mm Argus camera valued at $100, prescription sunglasses worth $20, and a trouble light cord valued at $5. Dr. Goldfarb told police the articles were apparently taken sometime between 7:45 p. m. and 9:15 p. m. Friday, while the automobile was parked on Abeel street near the Rondout creek bridge. He was attending Temple Emanuel at the time, he said.

Navy 'Blue Angel' Dead

San Diego, Calif., March 10 (AP)—The famed "Blue Angel" of navy air fame, Lt. Cmdr. John J. Magda, Jr., 33, is dead. Pacific fleet air headquarters announced here yesterday that Magda was killed in action off Tanchon, Korea, but said the exact manner of his death was not yet reported.

Watchman's Fire Is Mistaken as Serious

A small fire maintained by a night watchman at the Washington school under construction on Wall street near Henry was mistaken twice early this morning for a more serious fire. The purpose of the small fire was to keep the sand used in the construction work dry.

The police department received a report of the fire at 3:29 a. m. today, and Patrolmen Walter Van Steenburgh and Myer Levy reported after an inspection that the fire was under control.

Ten minutes later a passerby saw the fire and turned in an alarm from Box 4121 at the corner of Henry and Fair streets.

Other fire department calls included a grass fire at 216 Wilbur avenue at 1:44 p. m. Friday, an automobile fire near 54 Elizabeth street at 11:28 p. m., and a false alarm from Box 4121 near No. 7 School at 4:02 p. m. Friday.
